HIBBEN IS FOUND.

BRIDEWELL.

Arresting Officer Thought He Had a "Drunk" and So Ran Him In-The Unfortunate Man's Wife

CHICAGO, April 17.—(Special Dispatch.) S. B. Hibben of Los Angeles, who disappeared mysteriously yesterday, was found this evening at the Bridewell, or city prison. He had been picked up at 2 o'clock this morning by a policeman, who found him wandering atmlessly. On account of Hibben's strange actions and unwillingness to talk, the officer thought him drunk, and placed that charge against him at the placed that charge against him at the station. When Hibben was arraigned this morning in the Police Court, he did not reveal his identity. The Judge imposed a fine of $10, and, not having the money, he was sent to the Bridewell.

This evening the superintendent of the Bridewell telephoned to police headquarters that Hibben was there. The morning and evening paners had stories about his disappearance, and the Bridewell authorities recognized Hibben from the description. His wife was notified, and she immediately drove to the home of Mayor Swift. The Mayor gave her an order on the Bridewell for her husband's release, and at 3 o'clock he was liberated.

After pawning his jewelry yesterday, Hibben bought a ticket and berth to Pasadena. He then wandered about the streets until found by a policeman. Mrs. Hibben is overjoyed, as she feared her husband had been killed for his money. It is thought his insanity is only temporary. When the policeman found Hibben, he was looking for a lake in which to commit suicide. He will probably be taken to a sanitarium.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.) Dispatch.) San Pedro won laurels to-day. Huntington for the first time rule, and making a fight himself. I to present his case. Certain it is, that none did it. It would also be interesting to learn whi he did not have confi-dence in the talent provided by the Los Angeles delegation. When they met last night in his room, none of them fact. J. S. Slauson, who had charge troducing Huntington, or, as he would have put it, "explained" it by saying first mapped out.

His remarkable ability in forgetting was White, who conducted the examination for San Pedro, cross-examined him Ex-United States Senator Cole indulged in a few pleasant reminiscence of the early history of the project, and made friends for himself, but scored no points for Santa Monica. E. L. Corthell, Huntington's engineer whom he employed two years ago to re port on San Pedro and Santa Monica which the people are familiar. Mr. Mitchell made a remarkable speech, delivered in excellent voice for out-door speaking, but evidently not often used on an occasion like this. He eulogized Southern California in lan guage that would be exceedingly valuale to a real estate agent, and incident ally referred to the harbor question saying the expressed sentiment was a most unanimously for San Pedro until gave promise of an appropriation of

He gave the best reason for Santa Monica having supporters in Los Angeles that has yet been presented, saying that the city was jealous of the small suburb of San Pedro. If the latter got the harbor it would be such a success as to make it a formidable rival of Los Angeles. If it went to Santa Monica there was no danger of that place growing important and Los Anreles would absorb it. He followed this by an exhibition of his knowledge on harbors, he saying that there were probably a dozen better points on the Southern California coast than either San Pedro or Santa Monica, but the deep-sea deep water, but where there was commerce, which indicates that he may yet advocate abandoning San Pedro and Santa Monica, and making a harbor of the river at Los Angeles, where there is plenty of commerce, but not much wa-

To answer this weak case, the San Pedro delegates presented strong arguments, backed by maps, photographs and governmental reports, all of which conclusively showed their contentions conclusively showed their contentions were based on underiable facts. The first speaker was Congressman McLachlan, who gave the following succinct history of the case and outline of its present status:

"Perhaps it would be well for me at the outset of the brief remarks that I shall make to state briefly the history of harbor matters in the vicinity of Los Angeles. More than twenty years ago Congress made an appropriation for the improvement of Wilmington Harbor, now known as the inside harbor of San Pedro, and various appropriations have been made for the improvement of that harbor, until they now aggregate nearly $1,000,000. Some years ago the governharbor, until they now aggregate nearly $1,000,000. Some years ago the government engineers made an investigation of the outside harbor at San Pedro, and reported the feasibility of constructing a deep-sea harbor in that vicinity. A short time afterward another survey was made by the government engineers for the purpose of determining which was the better place for the outside harbor, at San Pedro or Santa Monica, a place located in the neighborhood of thirty miles northwest of San Pedro. "The reports of the government engineers in reference to the investigation of these two harbors are a matter of record and can be examined by you for

of these two harbors are a matter of record and can be examined by you for themselves. They show that the government engineer, in comparing the two locations, specified certain preferences in favor of San Pedro. Since that last report there has been a great deal of agitation over the question as to which is the better location for a deep-sea harbor in that locality, and each locality has its supporters.

"When I was nominated for Congress at a Republican convention I stated that if I were elected I would go to Congress and do all in my power to obtain an appropriation for a deep-sea harbor at San Pedro. I think that each harbor at San Pedro. I think that each harbor at San Pedro. candidate nominated by each party in that campaign of two years ago did the same thing. The general sentiment of the people, based largely, I believe, upon the reports of the government engineers, was in favor of San Pedro. These are the conditions on which I came to Congress. "I arrived at Washington at the beginning of this session and found here the friends of San Pedro harbor in doubt as to the advisability of contending at this session for an appro-priation for an outside harbor at San Pedro at this session. After a consul-tation with each other, the friends of San Pedro Harbor decided it was wise San Pedro Harbor decided it was wise at this Congress, on account of the depleted condition of the treasury and the economical ideas which seemed to prevail, to confine their efforts to securing an appropriation to deepen the inside harbor at San Pedro to eighteen feet at mean low water, according to the report of Cal. Benyuard, who stated that it could be done for $392,000. I want to state to the committee that I was the last friend of San Pedro who finally assented to that course, and the ally assented to that course, and the elected to come here and work for an outside barbor at San Pedro. was my pledge to the people, and I feared I would not be justfied in confining my efforts to an inside harbor.

But it seemed the best thing to do. "We went before the House commit and asked for an appropriation of $392,-000 for the improvement of the harbo at San Pedro, at the same time stating that we did not relinquish our claim for an outside harbor in that locality, but distinctly stated the reasons why we had concluded to confine our efforts at this Congress to an appropriation for the inside harbor. Just before the the House it was learned that the House committee had included in it an appropriation for the full amount that as asked for the inside harbor at San was asked for the inside harbor at San Pedro, and also an appropriation for about $2,800,000 for the construction of an outside harbor at Santa Monica. "I am bound here to state, as the representative from that district, that never asked an appropriation for Santa Monica. We simply confined our efforts to the inside harbor at San Pedro, and I now say, as the represenhe made in the report of June. 1894, with tative of that district, coming fresh from the people, that I am not here today asking for an appropriation for Santa Monica, but I am here asking for an appropriation to complete that inside harbor at San Pedro according to the plan of Col. Benyaurd. And if, in the wisdom of this committee, they can see their way clear to giving us in appropriation for an outside harbor, I ask you to give it for the con-struction of such a harbor at San Pedro. No locality in the United States tion for such an improvement. No expenditure of public money will bring better results, not only to a locality, but to the whole nation.

"This is briefly my position in the matter, and I do not think it neces-sary to take up any more time of the committee with a further statement from me, as there are so many gentlecontinent to be heard on this subject."

continent to be heard on this subject."

W. C. Patterson, after introducing the delegates, said in part: "In view of the repeated reports of the United States engineers, and in view of the repeatedly-expressed preferences of our people, it would seem to us superfluous to discuss the question of a site for a deepsea harbor. It would seem scarcely necessary for us to attack the claims which have been presented for estab. necessary for us to attack the claims which have been presented for establishing a harbor at a location which has not been favored by any considerable body of our people; which has not been supported by any of the eminent engineers of the United States government which has not been favored by supported by any of the eminent engineers of the United States government; which has not been favored by either of the distinguished Senators from California, or by any Representatives in Congress from the section of the country which is interested in the construction of a harbor contiguous to Los Angeles. It would seem that these facts alone should be sufficient to eliminate from consideration any other location than San Pedro."

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The debate on the bond resolution proceeded today, Senator Hill continuing his speech in opposition, which was not completed. Senator Hoar supported the proposed bond investigation. The debate proving attractive to the public, the galleries being crowded throughout

An exciting episode occurred late in the day concerning Pacific railroad affairs. Senator Gear, chairman of the Pacific Roads Committee, presented a bill proposing an adjustment of the rallroad debt. This led Senator Allen to criticise the committee for alleged partiality to "Collis P. Huntington and his lobbyists."

A bitter personal altercation between Senator Gear and Senator Allen followed, during which Senator Allen declared that Senator Gear had uttered a "falsehood" concerning Gen. Weaver of Iowa. Senator Hoar called Senator Allen to order and demanded that his words be taken down. Senator Allen was obliged to take his seat, but on motion of Senator Faulkner was allowed to proceed in order.

FIFTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

REGULAR SESSION. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, April 17.—SENATE—To avoid the struggle for precedence, the Senate, on motion of Senator Cannon of Utah, took up the resolution directing the Secretary of the Interior to open the Uncompaghre reservation without further delay, the understanding being that the bond-investigating resolution come up at 8 o'clock as unfinished business.

After Senator Brown of Utah had spoken for the resolution, he sought to secure a vote. Senator Gorman asked that a decision be deferred, owing to the absence of Senator Vilas who desired to be heard.

Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island said that it must be clear that there was "something behind" these efforts at delay and this persistence in putting off votes. Senator Gorman responded that it was the first intimation coming from a distinguished Senator on the other side of the chamber that delays in public business were occurring:

At 2 o'clock the bond resolution was WASHINGTON, April 17.—SENATE-a distinguished Senator on the other side of the chamber that delays in public business were occurring.

At 2 o'clock the bond resolution was brought up and Senator Hill resumed his speech in opposition. He declared that with revenues insufficient to meet government expenses, bonds were imperative. Certainly then the Democratic party should at least defend the course of the President and Secretary of the Treasury in Issuing bonds. It was not for the Democratic party to join in the political assault of Populist and Republican Senators against bond issues. When, at one point, Senator Hill was interrupted by the remark of Senator Allen that the Democratic party was dead, the New York Senator paid a glowing tribute to his party, declaring that it would live on to uphold its principles regardless of the action of a few misguided men.

The Senator declared that if this investigation was made the administravestigation was made the administra-tion would retire from it without stair and the discomfiture of those who voted for the investigation. He spoke of Secretary Carlisle's conspicuous ability. The Secretary had argued the question fairly from his standpoint. He had never descended to abuse of the silver never descended to abuse of the silver men. His recent great speech at Chi-cago had no abuse for those against him. Are the friends of silver to an-swer that great speech with an offensive resolution, having "dishonesty" written resolution, having "dishonesty" written on its face?

Speaking of President Cleveland's message concerning bonds, Senator Hill said it was made necessary by a Congress which spent its time making, speeches against syndicates, while refusing to pass laws to end those syndicates. He yielded for the introduction of a bill, which, however, led to an animate side debate, and closed Senator Hill's remarks for the day.

Senator Gear of Iowa, chairman of the Committee on Pacific Railroads, presented a committee substitute for all bills proposing a settlement of the Pacific Railroad debts.

Senator Allen thereupon called attentions

Senator Allen thereupon called attention to the notorious fact that Collis P. Huntington and his lobby had been here to influence legislation, yet no in-vitation had been sent to the patrons of Senator Gear hotly rejoined that the Senator (Mr. Allen) had no right to im pugn the motives of the committee or himself, as chairman. It was not necesfor Tom, Dick and Harry all over the country.

Senator Allen said he had seen Collis

P. Huntington and his lobbyists occur pying all the seats in the committee room and "lording it over the com Senator Gear, with flushed face, said mittee."

Senator Gear, with flushed face, said he would not suggest whether the Nebraska Senator represented or misrepresented the great State of Nebraska. He had known him for thirty years, and knew the sort of political affiliations he was used to.

This brought Senator Allen forward in an explanation of his party affiliations. He had voted for Lincoln and Grant. When Senator Allen spoke of his voting in 1892 for Gen. Weaver for President, a sensational episode was precipitated.

Senator Gear interrupted to state that Gen. Weaver stood for the confiscation of railroad property, the telegraph and telephone, and the issuance of paper to pay for it.

Senator Allen responded with a glowing eulogy of Gen. Weaver, whereupon Mr. Gear broke out in a loud laugh and retreated to the cloak-room. Senator Allen protested against this rude "guf-faw" declaring that while brought up among the coyotes, he was taught better manners than that. "And the Senator cannot stand here and utter false-

Senator Faulkner of West moved that Senator Allen be to proceed in order. On a viv vote there appeared to be a on second vote the affirmativ mainly from the Democratic sit valled.

Senator Allen rejoined that he was surprised at being able to defile a Senator who had seen so much of the world. He also sarcastically expressed thanks to Senator Hoar for keeping a watchful eye on him to see that he did not wrong. He again spoke highly of Gen. Weaver and again protested against the laughter of Senators.

"Let me assure the Senator," said Senator Chandler, "that we are not laughing at what he says, but the way he says it."

This closed the incident, and Senator Hoar spoke briefly in support of the bond resolution. He said the bond transactions were preperly subject to finest was charged against government of ficials.

Senator Peffer interrupted to state no dishonorable motives were imputed to the President nor the Secretary of the Treasury, but he believed the bond transactions had fraud all over them in New York city and elsewhere.

Senator Hoar went on to review the several bond issues, stating the various points of irregularity which be believed to exist. He particularly objected to the use of bonds to raise money to meet current expenses.

Among other minor bills passed, was one amending the Carey Act in reference to arid lands. Then, at 5.40 o'clock, the Senate adjourned until Monday.

one amending the Carey Act in reference to arid lands. Then, at 5:40 o'clock, the Senate adjourned until Monday.

HOUSE.—The net result of five hours' work on the private calendar in the House today was the passage of four pension bills, one to pension the widow of Rear Admiral Foote, at 350 per month; the rejection of a bill to retire a hospital steward as a second lieutenant of cavalry, and the passing of a war claim of less than $600.

The latter was the first war claim brought before the House for consideration, and naturally provoked a general debate on the policy of paying war claims. It drew from Mr. Mahon of Pennsylvania, chairman of the War Claims Committee Mr. Walker of Massachusetts, Mr. McCall of Tennessee, and Mr. Evans of Kentucky eloquent pleas for the payment of the findings of the Court of Claims. Mr. Mahon argued that these claims should be paid or the court abolished. Barring the cotton claims, he asserted that $20,000,000 would pay them, while Mr. Ray of New York thought that $50,000,000 would pay them, while Mr. Ray of New York thought that $50,000,000 would pay them, while Mr. Ray of New York thought that $50,000,000 would pay them, of the Appropriations Committee in the last House, was injected into the debate before it was finished, and there was a lively set-to between Mr. Dockery of Missouri and Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio.

Mr. Dockery eulogized Speaker Crisp and Mr. Sayers, the chairman of the Appropriations Committee in the last House, paying a high tribute to Speaker Reed.

"I want to say here in his presence," said he, "that I honor the present Speaker, Thomas B. Reed. (Applause.) He has stood like a lion in the path of members of both sides of the political aisle who have been pressing bills carrying large sums,"

Mr. Grosvenor ridiculed Mr. Dockery for "attempting to vindicate the history and career of the Democratic party." He said the real question at issue now was not the honesty of these claims, but of the ability of the government to pay them at this time."

"You are," said he, addressing the Democratic side, "paralyzed by your own utter inefficiency. The great facown utter inefficiency. The ture of the administration revenue-producing, industry-propagating tariff law was presented to him, he said: My name shall never disgrace its pages.'

"You," he continued, "are attempting to place in contrast an administration that paid $250,000,000 of the public debt with the one that borrowed $250,000,000, and now tremble each day lest the telegraph bring the news that the gold so borrowed is drifting across the water." (Applause.)

THE CANAL PROBLEM.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The Nicaragua 'Canal Commission which visited the isthmus last summer, presented some features of its side of the canal question before the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce today. Engineer Endicott presented the statements of Warner Miller and Engineer Menocal of the canal company, that the investigations by the commission had been of a cursory nature. Except in a few details, the plan of Engineer Menocal seemed to Mr. Endicott feasible. While the company's plan contemplated a canal twenty-eight feet deep, the commission was convinced that at certain seasons the wast would fail to twenty-four feet, unless the dams were built to a greater height.

Replying to a question, Mr. Endicott said that in the event of a war with a nation like Great Britain the government would be obliged to abandon the canal, but might solve the problem by blowing up the locks. From a military point of view the canal was desirable. The present value of all work done by the company. Endicott has estimated at $500,000. Its harbor works at Greytown were in a bad condition, not much of value remaining. Portions of the work would have to be removed. The company's five dredges were sunk in the harbor, and were obsolete. His estimate of the value of the company's setimate, even conceding that Menocal's plans are feasible.

CAPE TOWN ADVICES.

Organt Requests for Troops Sent Britain-Boers Drilling.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

CAPETOWN, April 17.—(By Atlantic Cable, Associated Press Copyright, 1896.) The difficulty in obtaining news of the Matabele uprising increases day by day, owing to the restriction of the authorities, but it is positively known that the situation about Buluwayo has grown darker, and that the rebellion is so widespread that a large force of troops will be grown darker, and that the rebellion so widespread that a large force of troops will be necessary to restore order. Urgent requests for troops have been made by people not directly interested in the British Chartered South African Company, and the home government is blamed for postponing the dispatch of strong reinforcements in south Africa. The inaction of the Wardenester of Joseph Chamberlain, the Colonial cretary, to avoid anything which night be construed into an attempt to opere the South African republic, but it is pointed out, while Chamberlain is holding his hands, the Boers are openly being drilled under their imported German instructors, and are accumulating arms and ammunition, constructing fortifications and bringing heavy guns only number haif of 15,000, might sweep over the town, even if thousands were slain in the onslaught.

The officials of the Chartered Company say they have no fear that Bulwayo will be captured, but it is the over-confidence of the British, the habit of grossly underrating the strength of the enemy, which has led to many historical disasters to the British arms. There is no denying that the Matabeles have been steadily gathering together for weeks past, with the intention, apparently, of attacking Bulwayo. The recapture of King Lobengula's old capital from the British would be a fearful blow to the paramount power in South Africa.

This is frankly admitted, yet the available force of volunteers at Bulwayo is believed to be not much over eight, hundred men. Machine guns have, it is true, been hurried to the front from, the British flagship St. George; the market-place has been converted into a strong "laager," the cld police camp outside the town and other points have been fortified, but it would take many men and many obstructions to withstand 10,000 fearless Matabeles, especially if it is true that they are being "aided and abetted" by Boer command and led by old King Lobengula or his son.

Although the modern Buluwayo is some slight distance away from the old chief kraal or connection of huts which composed the headquarters, about two years ago, of the ruler of Matabeleland, to the Matabeles, it is a sort of Mecca, a place to their minds they and nobody else should possess, and which, if recaptured, must certainly bring them back their old historic glories. This feeling has been steadily encouraged by the agents of the Boers, who have everywhere been preaching secretly but effectively a crusade against the British. It is this crusade which is at the bottom of all trouble, and it dates from the time of Dr. Jameson's fillustering raid and the bad whipping administered by the Boers to his free-booters. To bring about the invasion of the Transvaal the territory of the British South Africa Company was depleted of Belluwayo.

It is reported that the volunteers and police at Buluwayo are contemplating making a sortie to the railway to take the Matabeles by surprise. It is predicted here, if this is done, the British force will almost certainly be annihisated, and that Buluwayo will fall into the hands of the enemy. The town's only ciance of safety is believed to be in remy ining strictly on the defensive until al. the reinforcements it is possible to bend there have reached Buluwayo. If is reported that the rebellion has been shecked in the Shiloh district, where 2000 Matabeles are said to have asked for white protection. Old settlers, famu'ar with South African warfare, say th's is only a ruse de guerre.

Although the semi-official press continues to harp on the unsanitary nature of the place, as if in order to prepare public opinion on the subject, to evacuate Kassala sooner would have been a serious error, and an act of treason to England and to civilization, whose interests are at stake in the conflict with the Mahdi's hordes. It will bring large and small vessels into immediate contact, with constraine vessels. It will bring large and small vessels into immediate contact with coastwise vessels; it will be more economical in administration and maintenance; the construction of a breakwater at San Pedro will enable the government by a reasonable expenditure to attain and maintain any reasonable depth over the inner bar, thus accommodating all classes of vessels."

Santa Monica, he said, stands at the extreme northwestern limit of the pro-

Should the breakwater be constructed at that point, no individual or company can take advantage of it without the consent of the Southern Pacific. Its pler, moreover, is inadequate to accom-modate the traffic and others must be hult. Further the constructed built. Every pier so constructed will cost about $800,000, and no one can af-ford the expenditure. There is no room for wharfs, warehouses or elevators at Santa Monica, and dry docks are an on the other hand, san Pedro," he said, "offers everything that commerce requires. Its harbor frontage is about four miles, and susceptible of almost indefinite expansion, and although about one-fourth of this frontage has been turned over to the Southern Pacific Railroad, still about three miles is yet held by the State in trust for the citizents. The recole will see it to the said of t its citizens. The people will see to it that this is held sacred for the use of legitimate enterprises. Around this inner harbor, if you give us the ap-propriations asked for, will cluster every form of industry—warehouses, elevators, factories, packing-houses and fish-drying establishments. It is open to every railway that now exists. or may hereafter come. Already two railways, the Southern Pacific and Terminal, are accessible from every point of the fertile region which makes Los Angeles and its neighbor counties famous the world over. Here the farmers can have access with their produce, riving them a market, and the ship giving them a market, and the snip-owner gets the best the country affords. "But the one thing which concerns our people the most, is the location of this harbor at a point available to the railway which we confidently expect to be built from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles as soon as a free deep-sea har-tor is an assured fact. We want antor is an assured fact. We want another competing railway. When we had only the ocean traffic our freights were $800 for a carload of oranges. Competition has brought this down, and the configuration of the coast why this now it is $350. This is twice what it ought to be. More competition will give us better rates. With all these reasons in favor of San Pedro, you will readily see why our people insist upor that location. It has been urged as a reason why Santa Monica should rereason why santa monica should receive the appropriation that Mr. Huntington has tried San Pedro and found that it would not answer the purpose; that he accordingly built his pier at Santa Monica. I do not believe that Mr. Huntington abandoned the construction of a pier at San Pedro for any such person on the contract. I think I such reason; on the contrary, I think I can point out the true reason.

"About 1875 an independent railroad line was built from Los Angeles to santa Monica, with a pler to deep water at the latter point. This line and pler, about 1877, was bought by the Southern Pacific and fell at once into innocuous desuetude. That company, having no competitor at either place, showed its faith in San Pedro by transferring all the house of the transferrence showed its faith in San Pedro by transferring all its business to that point, and using lighters at San Pedro instead of the deep-sea harbor at Santa Monica. This continued to be the case until the Redondo people built their wharf in 1887, and when that company, by contracts with merchants, secured about 58 per cent. of all the ocean freights to Los Angeles, the Southern Pacific determined to, and did, move up the coast to the extreme point. I think this accounts for the move, and had Redondo pier not been built, no pier would have been built at Santa Monica."

Mr. Hazard said: "Why should our covernment abandon Wilmington Har-oor after an expenditure of nearly 11,-000,000 with results that have surprised the most sanguine? Why should this be? Is it because of any disappointment in the result which has attended that great public work? No. because no publio expenditure of recent years has produced greater beneficial results, and we appeal to this committee not to inwe appear to this committee not to in-augurate at present and recommend another appropriation which has no-where found expression officially. If any appropriation is recommended by your committee, it will create a division among our people that will delay any appropriation for our harbors until af-ter we are all deed and gone because committee. It will create a division among our people that will delay any approprietion for our harbors until after we are all dead and gone, because we do not believe that the government will in our day and generation build two harbors for one immediate benefit. No bill has ever been introduced recommending it, no Senator from our State or Representative from our district has asked for or favored it. No committee from either House has ever incorporated in any of their reports, but the mere suggestion that an appropriation might be obtained if we would consent to something we dare not do—abondon an outer harbor at San Pedro, which our people have been praying for for the last twenty-five years—has already caused a division among our people, and has already resulted in the condition of things which you see before you here today."

He followed with an exhaustive review of the situation, brought out by questions from different members of the committee. His forty-two years' residence in Los Angeles added great weight to what he said.

H. Hawgood, a civil engineer, described the manner in which the outer harbor at San Pedro could be easily reached by many railroads besides the present occupants. He further stated that at Santa Monica there was but room for one more road along the beach from the town to Santa Monica Cañon, and from that for the half mile from the cafion to Huntington's wharf, it was impracticable to build any more lines whatever.

Mr. Corthell, the engineer representing Huntington, paid Mr. Hawgood the compliment of commending his plan for the outer harbor. It is expected he will be further examined tomorrow.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT WASHINGTON, April 17.-The Sen ate Committee on Commerce which has the River and Harbor Bill under consideration, devoted today to hearing arguments upon the respective merits of San Pedro and Santa Monica to be-come a deep-water harbor near Los An-

The claims of San Pedro were first presented by a large delegation from Los Angeles, consisting of President Patterson of the Chamber of Commerce, A. M. Stephens, H. T. Hazard and H. Hawgood, who were reinforced by Representative McLachlan and Gen. Craighill, chief engineer of the United States army. The Los Angeles delegation contended that San Pedro Harbor presented innumerable advantages of a harbor over Santa Monica, and urged that adequate provision be made for it in the bill.

Gen. Craighill stated that have narbor over Santa Monica, and urged that adequate provision be made for it in the bill.

Gen. Craighill stated that he had made an inspection of the two places in 1894, in connection with a government commission, and then concluded, and was still of the opinon that San Pedro was the preferable place for a deep-water harbor. Mais. Raymond and Haynes, government engineers and members of the board which investigated the respective advantages of the two harbors, also spoke in favor of San Pedro Harbor. They said that San Pedro had a natural inner harbor, which Santa Monica did not possess, and could be much more easily defended in case of war than could Santa Monica.

C. P. Huntington and Engineers E. L. Corthell and William Hood presented the advantages of Santa Monica. Huntington said, in reply to questions as to the interests of the Southern Pacific Railroad in the two harbors that the railway company came nearer controlling the waters at San Pedro than at Santa Monica, and while his company controlled the right-of-way at Santa Monica, he would agree that any number of competing lines should have access to the harbor in case it should be selected by the government.

Senator Jones of Nevada, member of access to the harbor in case it should be selected by the government.

Senator Jones of Nevada, member of the committee and largely interested in property at Santa Monica, said no company would find difficulty in putting in tracks.

Huntington said that the Southern Pacific Company spent $1,000 000 in tryling to make a harbor at San Pedro and had been compelled to abandon it, because the place was not suitable for the purpose, as it had no outer harbor. It was exposed to strong southeast winds which did not affect Santa Monica.

the configuration of the coast why this was true.

The committee took no action to indicate preference for either side. It was apparent, however, from the questions asked, that there was a division of opinion upon the relative merits of the two places.

CHICAGO. April 17.—Pretty Ella Donaldson, tall and fair, clad in the whitest of satin, with orange blossoms in her hair, and the blushes on her face softened through the mist of a filmsy veil, stood in the parlor of her Lockport home Wednesday afternoon and waited. The supreme moment of her life had arrived, the time when her girlhood's name was to be crowned with that of another—one nearer and dearer to her than even her own.

It wanted but five minutes when it would be time for the solemn words to be spoken which were to make her a wife. The feast was set; the guests were met, and the merry din that comes from a gay assemblage floated over into the street. Just at this critical period a messenger entered with a letter. The missive changed the whole complexion of the girl's life. It was from Ezekiel Smith, her fiancée, one of the best-known contractors doing business in Chicago, and announced that the ceremony would have to be indefinitely postboned. Behind all this the story of mony would have to be indefinitely postponed. Behind all this the story of an ardent courtship terminated at the instance of the groom's relatives; a blighted heart, and last evening the instance of the groom's relatives; a blighted heart, and last evening the filing of a suit for $50,000 damages.

Smith is 50 years old, and is reputed worth $500,000. He is a contractor, and is interested in two large firms, one in Chicago and the other at Lockport, Ill. He is president of a bank at Marion, Mo., and at present is filling a contract on section 14 of the drainage canal. He was one of the World's Fair contractors, and has several large government contracts. Recently he and Frank Jobin secured the contract for old material in the Chicago postomes building. He was prominent in Washington, D. C., social circles some years ago, and formerly resided in Chicago, where he married Miss Marie Colding, his first wife, who died about two years ago.

The Santa Fe Must Settle, CHICAGO, April 17.—The arbitrators have made their decision in the long-standing dispute between the Atlantic and Pacific and Santa Fé roads over the division of through traffic earnings. The award involves a payment by the Santa Fé Company of about $1,000,000, and will cause a material increase in the revenues of the Atlantic and Pacific road. The latter's percentage of the through rate is increased by the arbitrators about 5 per cent, and its share of the annual rental to be paid the Mojave division is decreased about $300,000.

New England not Solid for the Maine Man.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIME.)

HARTFORD. April 17.—(Special Dispatch.) The McKinley managers feel that if they can capture one of the New England States they will break Reed. To this end they are bending all their energies on Connecticut. The Reed men will have the fight of their lives to save Connecticut. It was confidentially asserted that New Haven would elect a Reed delegation to the State convention, and it was given out last night after the caucus that the men elected were for Reed, but the fact is that it is a solid McKinley delegation. The New Haven delegates are interested in man-Haven delegates are interested in man-ufacturing, and their sympathies are for the Ohio man. In Hartford the Mc-Kinley delegates also won.

managers are making in Reed's "solid New England."

The latest and most striking evidence of the confidence of the McKinleyites is the agitation to have the delegation go to St. Louis as a "unit." Tonight's Post, the McKinley organ, says it would unquestionably be for the interests of the Republicans of Connecticut for the delegation which represents them at St. Louis to be united, and if the sentiment for McKinley strongly prevalls over any other sentiment among the Republicans of the State, fairness would require that the united delegation should be a Mc-Kinley delegation. Not for years has a State delegation gone to the national convention under instructions. The boldness and audacity of this scheme has taken away the breath of some of the more conservative Republicans. There is sure to be a "clash of resounding arms" if an attempt is made to instruct the delegation for McKinley, and that there would be such an attempt seems almost certain.

The delegates-at-large will probably be that old warhorse, Samuel Fessenden; ex-Gov. Bulkeley, A. H. Brewer and John I. Hutchinson. Bulkeley is red-hot for McKinley, but Fessenden is for Reed. The other two are said to favor McKinley.

Lillian Ashley's Suit Set for Trial Cold in the State—Action Against the Sharon Estate Dismissed. Queen Mamen Surrenders.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.) ACRAMENTO, April 17.—(Special Datch.) A few days ago Gov. Budd Dispatch.) A few days ago Gov. Buddwas made aware of the fact that now the season is about to open the lessees of rival hotels in Yosemite Valley had arranged to combine, for the purpose, as would naturally be inferred, of raising prices. Both hotels in the valley are the State's property, which it leases to private parties. Two years ago there was but one hotel there, which cost the State $40,000, and as the lessee of this had a monopoly, he charged about what he pleased. To correct this the Legislature made an appropriation of $12,000, and a rival establishment was filled with expensive furniture bought with the people's money.

As the sole purpose of starting this been determined upon has naturally aroused the Governor, and the consequence is that he has issued a call for a meeting at an early date of the Yosemite Valley Commissioners to see what can be done toward stooping.

Small vegetation in many places has been totally destroyed, while in numerous instances pear trees have been seriously injured. Figs, also, have suffered materially. The outlook is decidedly discouraging. But one week ago the prospects indicated that one of the heaviest crops in the history of the county would be realized this season.

and that the trosts will cause a short tasis roop.

At Biggs the mercury fell to 2 deg. below the freezing point, but the cold snap was short and fruit-raisers in the localities are little alarmed over the consequences of the frost's visit. Two-thirds of the grape crop in the vicinity of Calistoga was destroyed, and fruits of all kinds suffered to some extent.

Cherries, apricots and prunes suffered from the frost in the vicinity of San José, and ranchers are discouraged over the prospect of the season's crops. The fruit yield in the vicinity of Decoto will be almost a complete failure, owing to the frost. Cherries, particularly, will be a small crop. Ranchers in the Napa Valley say little fruit will come from them this year as a result of recent frosts.

VISALIA. April 17.—Reports from the orchards here as to the effect of frost Wednesday and Thursday nights are conflicting. Some that were reported ruined now report fair to good prospects. Altogether half or two-thirds of the fruit crop is left, if no further frosts occur.

THOSE CHILEAN CLAIMS.

Shields and McKinstry Will Get No Coin from Chile. MY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

OAKLAND, April 17.—After five years the claims of Patrick Shields and Andrew McKinstry against the Chilean government for injuries received from assaults of a Chilean mob at Santiago have finally been thrown out of all the courts and commissions. Shields and McKinstry were sailors on the steamer Keweenaw that entered Santiago harbor a week after the Baltimore sailors were so roughly handled by the mobs in that city in 1891. The sailors of the Keweenaw did not fare any better than did their fellows on the Baltimore and they each made claims aginst the government of Chile. Shields's claim was for $100,000 and McKinstry's for $20,000.

President Harrison made these two claims a very important part of one of his messages to Congress in 1892. In this he said that though these men were foreign subjects they were salling under the protection of the American flag, and that they should receive the same protection as American citizens.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—The rig city of Papeets from Tahiti brings ews that Queen Mamea of the Island f Raistea, in the South Seas, has urrendered to her old enemies, the rench. The Queen, according to the eports, is new thoroughly subdued and eyond giving further trouble.

Queen Mamea has reigned over Raises nearly a score of years. Her subsects numbered about 1000 people, fierce and uncivilized. Many afforts were made to conquer her without avail. A few months ago a French gunboat appeared at the island and in the night landed a strong force. In the morning the Queen found herself surrounded and was compelled to surrender. She gave the French complete sway over the island, with the condition that she be still recognized as Queen. France is to control the shipping, which is said to be very valuable, and is to be permitted to establish a coaling station at the principal harbor. When the Papeete left Tahiti the French gunboat was anchored at Raiatea. The English are said to oppose French possession of the Island, and will ask that it be restored to Queen Mamea.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—When W. C. Raiston was president of the Bank of California, in 1875, Burling Bros., the brokers, borrowed $1,768,000 from the bank, giving their notes. Raiston furnished collateral security for the notes in the shape of bank stock and Spring Valley Water Company stock. After Raiston's death William Sharon was appointed executor of the estate. He went to the Burlings and told them that the collateral security had been stolen from the bank, and they must pay the notes. After considerable negotiations between Sharon and the creditors, the Burlings, it was stated that the creditors agreed to pay $200,000, and the amount was paid.

The Burlings later discovered that they had been decelved, and after Sharon's death commenced suit against the trustees of his estate for the amount. The Superior Court decided that the Burlings had no claim against the trustees of the estate, but that their claim was against Sharon personally, and today the Supreme Court affirmed the decision. Such protection, it declares, would take him from the jail to the poorhouse, if carried a little farther, and it cannot see why barbers should be singled out for protection while nothing is said about street car and railway employes and newspaper workers.

BISHOP, April 17.—This forenoon Joseph Lewis was shot by William Mc Carthy, a bullet fired from a rifle pass of recent frosts.

The wounded man will probably die tonight. L. D. de Closs was also slightly wounded. The men are neighbors, living about seven miles northeast of Bishop. Deputy Sheriff Smith and a posses are in pursuit of McCarthy, who posse are in pursuit of McCarthy, who fied on foot.

This question, the most important and the most far-reaching in possibilities which the Methodist Church has ever been called on to face, is now left in a state of more hopeless confusion than ever. The women may yet win in the coming conference, but they can win only by resort to some parliamentary expediency in the conference.

Up to date, with three annual conferences to hear from, the women lacked 49 votes of having the necessary three-fourths of all wotes cast on the Baltimore amendment. The Troy conference having given the women only 78 votes, and having thrown 113 votes against them, their last hope of winning on the Baltimore amendment is gone.

Evening Classes of Y.M.C.A. Hold Special Exercises.

The closing exercises of the evening classes of the Young Men's Christian Association took place last evening. Willard D. Ball made an address, setting forth some facts and figures of interest. He said that 96 per cent. of the students in all schools are in the grades below the High School, and only 4 per cent. in high schools and colleges. The great body of young boys leave school before the age of 14 years, owing to various causes. These the association seeks to reach and help by its educational class work. This year it had made a start in manual training, by adding carpentry and wood-carving to its list, samples of the work done being on exhibition.

The association was in need of an endowment for this work, so that the benefits of such an education might be more largely disseminated. Now the wealthier class could go to Pasadena and the more wicked class to Whittier, but the rank and file of young men had no place to learn manual skill.

After the address, the various instructors announced the winners of the prize offered each class, namely, a 25 membership for the best student, as follows: Spanish, C. C. Brower and J. E. Harrison; shorthand, A. C. Wright; vocal music, divided between George S. Green and Frank Lenigo; penmanahip, J. Huehn; arithmetic, Oscar Ragiand, W. T. Sims won a special prize in-penmanship for greatest, improvement.

The prize-winners in the other classes will be announced later.

It was a noteworthy fact that the prize-winners were, as a rule, young men who were very busy in other occupations. One was a postman, who studied his lessons on his rounds; another was an engineer, who had voluntarily taken the most difficult shift that his time might be free to attend the class. Another was a student in the High School, who, in addition to his school studies, earned his living by work outside of school duties. Of the 250 or 300 young men who have enjoyed the privilege of this instruction, a very large majority are wage-earners.

The exhibit of drawings, wood-carvings, carpentry, etc., will be in the association parlors several days, and all are invited to call and inspect it.

Far from being quiet, the Japanese are exciting the tumults in Korea in order to show the futility of Russia's attempts to keep order.

(Judge:) Tommy (surprised). Why, papa, I thought that one spoonful of sugar was enough for my coffee? Tommy's Papa. This is a restaurant, my son; take all the sugar you want.

(Indianapolis Journal:) He. Oh, dear! I wish I could get hold of some good biscuits like mother used to make for me. She. And I wish I could get some good clothes like father used to buy for me.

(New York Truth:) Witherby. I understand that you had a birthday party at your house the other night. Who was there? Plankinton, Two doctars and a nurse.

(Exchange:) "Dearest, if I were far, far away, could you still love me?" "Why, Reggy, what a question! I'm sure the farther you were away the better I should love you."

(Indianapolis Journal:) "Ah-Noo Yawk is the theatrical center of this doosid country. I presume?" said the visiting foreigner. "It used to be," said the citizen who was explaining things, "but I understand that they have a new law now that does away with free lunch."

(Cincinnati Enquirer:)"All I demand for my client," shouted the attorney in the voice of a man who was paid for it, "is justice." "I am very sorry I can't accommodate you," replied the judge, "but the law won't allow me to give him more than fourteen years."

Destruction of a Historic Feature nix Republican:) One of the (Papenix Republican:) One of the features of Globe was the great sycamore tree that spread its far-arching branches across the main street. It was a feature that never was omitted in showing the prominent points, and the lesson that was taught upon it was a salutory one for the wrong-doers of the copper camp at the property. of the copper camp at its paimies period. Of the tree the Belt says:

"On Monday morning last a famous landmark, around which clung memories of the most notorious crime and act of retribution in the history of Globe, was thoughtlessly destroyed. It was the old sycamore tree which stood in the middle of Road street convolved. was the old sycamore tree which stood in the middle of Broad street, opposite Joe Redman's property, which, since the eventfui morning of August 24, 1882, was known as 'Hangman's Tree, and the ever-recurring winds soughing through its aged branches sang a requiem for the repose of Hawiey and Grimes, whose reluctant exit from this vale of tears was made from its sturdy bough.

"It was the forenoon of August 20, 1882, that Andy Hall, express messenger, and Dr. W. F. Vail were murdered, and the express robbed of $5000 in coin by Hawley and Grimes, who were arrested two days later, and on the morning of August 24, at 2 o'clock were lynched for the atrocious crime by several hundred outraged citizens. Cicero Grimes's life was spared through the intercession of Rev. D. W. Calfee, but he was afterward legally convicted of complicity in the crime and sentenced to life imprisonment at Yuma, and, after serving a short period, was declared insane and sent to Stockton, Cal, asylum.

"The fire of June 9, 1834, sapped the life of the old sycamore, but as & did not endanger passers-by or obstruct travel, should have been allowed to remain as a monument to the sturdy spirit of justice which prevailed here in early years, and is worthy of commendation."

(Pasadena News:) The influence of a great newspaper in any undertaking is almost beyond appreciation. The various enterprises, benevolent and otherwise, which have been carried to a successful issue by the two great San Francisco dailies in the past few years are an example. The Los Angeles Times in raising the Newsboys' Home fund, and in creating a stampede to McKinley in Southern California has furnished another proof of the influence of the press on the public pulse.

Bakersfield Californian, April 14, 1896:) The Los Angeles Times makes the suggestion that at the primaries to elect delegates for selecting representatives to the State and Congress conventions, the names of the Presidential candidates favored be printed on the ballots This is a good idea and should be followed. Then there can be not misunderstand.

Equal to a Magazine

(St. Johns, Ariz., Herald, April 11, 1896:) The great Sunday edi-tion of the Los Angeles Times comes to our table this week con-taining thirty-six nages of reading mattaining thirty-six pages of reading mat-ter, an amount almost equal to our monthly magazines, written in a bright, breezy manner, and choke full of news. One paper a week, such as the Sunday Times, is quite sufficient for anyone.

THE TRAGIC STORY OF REE THE COUNTERFEITER.

Was Once One of the Best Mechanics in America—Foreman of One of the Homestead Shops—The Great Strikes Proved His Ruin.

The story of Richard Reese (or Reeves,) the counterfeiter, who broke down yesterday and with bitter tears acknowledged his guilt, is a trasic ex-

Reese has seen but two years less than half a century of life. His training was that of a mechanic. He is not a man skilful with hands alone, but one who works with both hand and brain. When U. S. Grant was running for President years are there was a for President, years ago, there was a big political celebration in Chicago. Gen. Grant was there, and Reese rode in his carriage as a representative of the laboring classes, proclaimed by his fellows the most skilful mechanic in all America.

in his carriage as a representative of the laboring classes, proclaimed by his fellows the most skilful mechanic in all America.

As the years went by the man's reputation grew and increased. At last he obtained a place in one of the great shops at Homestead, Pa. Eventually, he rose to be foreman, with a salary of $3000 a year.

Then came the great Homestead strikes, which brought ruin and death to so many a man. Reese was infected with the suicidal labor doctrines then prevailing, with the belief that by a great organized strike the employes could force their employers to yield to all demands the men might make. When the great struggle was over, Reese was a ruined man. His place was lost, and a reputation established as a man who could not be relied upon in case of a strike.

Reese came to California. He came to Los Angeles some months ago, expecting to obtain a position as foreman of the rolling mill. There was some hitch and in consequence Reese obtained only a subordinate position. He was not content with this. There was a dispute, and Reese's connection with the rolling mill ended.

Since then he has been living in a hand-to-mouth way. His children, two little girls aged 12 and 3 respectively, and a boy of 7, are in the Sisters' School and Orphan Asylum, in Boyle Heights. Reese's wife is dead. He met Frances Hussey, a woman who was separated from her husband and anxious to secure a divorce. The two have been living together of fate, meaning to get married as soon as the woman could get a divorce.

Reese got very poor indeed and poverty drove him to crime. He put his skill as a mechanic to the evil use of making bogus money. He declares he has been engaged in the nefarious business but a few months, meaning to save enough money to get the Hussey woman a divorce, to buy a little home for himself, that he might once more have his children with him, and to get another start. That accomplished, he had vowed to live an honest life again. Yesterday morning Detectives Auble and Hawley went to the house on Central

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Do We Need Guardians?

LOS ANGELES, April 18.—(To the Editor of The Times:) During the last few days we have had reported and published in the telegraphic news from the East that "Mr. Stevens and Mr. Thompson of the national advisory heard were instructing all A.P.A. members of the state of Thompson of the national advisory board were instructing all A.P.A. members that they must oppose McKinley." I had supposed that was a patriotic organization for the purpose of impressing all parties with high and loyal sentiments of true Americanism, and not to form a new political party. I have been told that candidates joining are assured that "There will be nothing to interefere with any man's conscientious discharge of his civil, religious or political duties," and under that assurance men of all political parties have joined the order. Democrats, Republicans, Populists and Prohibitionists sit side by side in every council in this city, and each would regard it as an insult and an outrage should any of the others attempt to dictate or coerce his vote. what, then, shall we think of the ef-frontery and impudence of any man, or set of men, who assume to dictate how members of that order shall vote, or who they will support for nomination. The members of the A.P.A. order are in-members of that order shall vote, or who they will support for nomination. The members of the A.P.A. order are intelligent, patriotic men, and need no guardian to tell them how or for whom they shall vote. It was organized to oppose just such political dictation comips from another quarter.

We are gravely told that Mr. Hannadid not appear before some self-constituted committee "to answer questions as to how Maj. McKinley stands," and therefore McKinley must not be supported. William McKinley needs to make no explanations. He is the one truly representative American, whose whole life is an inspiration for American boys to follow. His career has been as open as the day. No concealments or subterfuges lie at his door. Every pulsation of his heart has been, and is for America and American interests. He is for the public schools, free from sectarian control. He is for American laborers with fair compensation, against all the world. His religious associations are a guarantee of his patriotism and his freedom from bigotry. Imagine some "committee" summoning Abraham Lincoln or U. S. Grant to come before them and pledge himself to uphold the fag "against all foes, foreign or domestic, and against every foreign prince, power or potentate, civil of ecclesiastical!" Nine-tenths of the Republicans of the United States want William McKinley for President, whether they belong to the A.P.A. or not, and if he is nominated, as he ought to be—and as I believe he will be—all the "committees" and all the "dovisory boards" and all the "bosses" this side of — will not prevent his election by a majority equal to Grant's in 1868: American citizens worthy of the name will rebuke any attempt to establish a guardianship over their votes, in a manner which will not be pleasant to the fellows who try it.

A Rock-ribbed and Statesmanlike Suggestion.

PUENTE (Cal.). April 16.—(To the Editor of The Times:) Fearing that the free-silver men may cause a disastrous split in the Republican party, I venture to suggest the following compromise, honorable alike to both parties: Free coinage of cement.

Such a course would help out a struging local industry and leave us plenty of time to discuss the independence of the Apache Kid and other Cuban patriots.

M'KINLEY AND THE AMERICAN PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION.

There have been vague rumors of late Kinley. A recent dispatch stated that Mr. Stevens and Mr. Thompson, of the National Advisory Board," were incting all American Protective Assolation members that they "must oppose McKinley." The alleged reason of this leged opposition is the alleged fact that Mr. Hanna, who is one of those cting Maj. McKinley's campaign, glected to appear before a committee of the American Protective Association answer questions as to the attitude of Maj. McKinley toward that organ-

Notwithstanding the vague rumors bove referred to, taken also in confunction with some few facts which seem to bear them out in part, The Times does not fully credit the statent that the American Protective Asiation has committed itself to a fornal opposition to Maj. McKinley's canidacy. Such a course would be the ublimest folly for that organization. Maj. McKinley is infinitely stronger the American Protective Associa tion, and could far better afford to be ed by that order than the order could afford to oppose him. The pressituation will fully warrant the fve Association enters upon a formal mpaign against Maj. McKinley, the solution of the order will surely and speedily follow:

The time has not yet come when merican citizenship has sunk so low that it will tolerate an officious and less interference with its sacred rights, such as is implied in the alred instructions of "Mr. Stevens and Mr. Thompson," whoever those gentlebe. The right of every man o cast his ballot for the candidate of his choice is sacred and inalienable. The ividual voter is justly jealous of that right, and not inclined to view with faeeks to rob him of it, or to restrict its exercise. No doubt there are thounds of earnest Republicans in the rican Protective Association who ould refuse to abide by any "instruclons," emanating from any source whatsoever, which should forbid their ting for Maj. McKinley. No doubt eting for Maj. McKiniey.

Democrats who believe in tariff protecion, who will vote for McKinley beof his prominent identification still other thousands of independen ers who would vote for him in reent of such proscriptive method are alleged to have been inaugurated "Mr. Stevens and Mr. Thompson."

There is absolutely no reason why organization professing to stand for American citizenship, patriotism nor, should oppose the candiof Maj. McKinley. He is pre-tently an ideal American citizen. s life is an open book, which may be d by all his countrymen. His patriotis so pure and lofty that it is not oned even by his bitterest politifoes. His greatness is the greatness nplicity, of sincerity, and of earss. His devotion to principles ich he believes to be right amounts

I the American Protective Associatagonistic to Maj. McKinley, it ecause he has refused to be coerced ajoled into making pledges which d make. Antagonism of this kind high compliment to the man it whom it is directed. It is based n the same ground as the antaga man of incorruptible integand, therefore, a man who cannot as an instrument for the fur-ot was made in the Netate convention by American e Association emissaries to inwas without other results

Should the fight be carried into the national convention, it is not likely to make much headway, and probably could not in any event defeat the nom ination of Maj. McKinley. But if that extremely improbable event should happen-if Mai. McKinley should be defeated in the Republica nominating convention by emissaries of a secret proscriptive organizationthe Republican voters of the nation, by tens of thousands, would demand that he should stand as an independent candidate. Whether he could be prevailed upon to do so is problematical. But one fact is as clear as the noonday sun; and that is the fact that no Presidential candidate of any party, no matter how or when nominated, could stand up against the deluge of votes that would be cast for McKinley. If in the course of political events he should be forced into an independent candidacy, he would be elected beyond the shadow to the effect that the American Protect-of a doubt. He is stronger in the love affection and confidence of the people affection and confidence of the people than any combination that could possibly be made against him.

But the situation presents no such exreme phases. Maj. McKinley will, beyond a reasonable doubt, be the nomine of the Republican national convention, and will be elected by an overwhelming majority of the popular vote, as well as of the electoral vote. From one end of the nation to the other, the evergrowing cry of the people is for Mc Kinley. Good politics, as well as a decent regard for the prevailing public sentiment, demand that he be made the standard-bearer of Republicanism in the approaching contest. The national convention will reflect that sentiment, and will heed it.

All the opposition to his candidacy hat has developed thus far is factitious, scattering and inconsequential. The lemands of the people are so plain, so reasonable and so insistent that the nominating convention would hardly lare to disregard them, were it so dis-

Maj. McKinley has done well to keen aloof from secret organizations of all kinds, and to place himself under no obligations to any man or association of men. The people love and honor him for this high-minded, high-pitched course of action. He is too great and too grand a man to be swerved by this faction or that. He stands for all the people, not for mere factions and cliques. If he has aroused antagonism by rea son of his honorable and impartial course, the people will "love him better for the enemies he has made."

The plain logic of the situation is this: Let all true friends of McKinley, whatever their local or special political alliance, make his cause paramount to all other present political considerations. Let them jealously preserve and guard their personal and political in-American citizen, which cannot be safely infringed or lightly surrendered. Let them refuse to be either drawn away or ordered away from their allegiance to the person and the fortune of the foremost Republican Presidential candidate before the people today, upon whose banner victory will surely perch if his friends are true to him, and whose election will be the triumph of true Americanism in the best and

AN ORGAN OUT OF TUNE.

In a recent issue of the Evening Espee, William A. Burr, a civil engineer, has an able communication, in which he ventures to suggest that the United States engineers are all "off" on the harbor matter, and that he and a few other friends who favor Santa Monica are all right.

Mr. Burr wanders outside the domain of civil engineering and attacks the harbor question in a very daring manner from the standpoint of an ordinary citizen who is anxious to get a job at shoveling dirt, or something of that kind. Mr. Burr says:

"Let me say that while my practice has kept me largely in Eastern States and in the republic of Mexico, I have always watched the progress of Los Angeles with much interest because I regard it as my home. I have noticed that through some occurring instrument. that through some occult instrumen-tality whenever times have become de-pressed and we have been dreadful of the ragged edge, some new enterprise has always started in the nick of time site at which they will be competing roads, hence lower freight rates, but tell me, do the merchants make any less profit on their wares because rates are high?"

Mr. Burr, who is apparently civil in his way, and who may or may not be an engineer, is correctly informed as to the fact that "some of our merchants' are opposed to the Santa Monica site. His opinion that it would be a good thing to submit to the extortions of a railroad monopoly because the merchants would make just as much profit if they have to pay higher rates of freight is original, not to say funny.

Mr. Burr then goes on to refer to the amount of work that would be provided for the unemployed in this section if $3,000,000 to protect his tottering wharf at Santa Monica. Mr. Burr forgets to draw attention to the fact that the Southern Pacific Company, under Company, or in the shape of some other side show, would be certain to of this wharf, because it holds a cinch on the rock and the means of transporting the rock; that the Southern Pacific Company was the first big cor poration in California to import and employ Chinese labor on a large scale that it still employs that labor where ever it can use it to advantage; that i has recently discovered a still cheaper variety of labor in the shape of illiter ate Mexican and Indian peons from the northern States of Mexico, whom, in controvention of the alien contract law t is now importing from our neigh boring republic, through its agents Norton & Drake of this city, and is paying that labor at the rate of one dollar per diem, the greater portion of which these men have to take out in goods supplied to them at something like three times the market price.

Mr. Burr, the civil engineer, forgets o mention these facts, and the Evening Espee forgets to remind him of them. cause the Evening Espee has got to de what it can to earn its pay from its employers, the Southern Pacific Company, and to do this it must make pretense of pulling wool over the eyes of the laboring men of Los Angeles, before whom it has hitherto posed as their only sure-enough friend.

It appears that organized labor in Los Angeles has refused to be used as a monkey or a cat's paw to pull the chest Southern Pacific organ, whereat the organ-grinder is naturally much irritated. The organ-grinder will have to look for new monkey.

THE HARBOR HEARING.

Special dispatches to The Times from Washington this morning tell of the progress made in the hearing of the tee on Commerce yesterday. It was found impossible to complete the hearing yesterday, and it was carried over until today.

The dispatches indicate that the Huntington crowd made a very weak pre-sentation of their case—the natural reult of having a very weak case. Hunt ington himself was "nailed to the cross' by Senator White in the cross-examination, making many contradictory and ridiculous statements.

It is but justice to Congressman Mc Lachlan to say that he came squarely up to his ante-election pledges in advocating San Pedro. Had he taken an unequivocal position from the start, and not suffered himself to listen to the siren song of the Huntington crowd nor to abandon his position for the sake of the bribe of $3,000,000 offered to Santa Monica by Mr. Hermann, his presentation of the case would have een stronger.

John W. Mitchell, upon whom gres dependence was placed, made an extraordinary exhibition of himself, de livering his address in a loud voice, admirably suited for stump-speaking, but mittee room. He was finally called down by Senator Nelson of Minnesota, who suggested that he should not argue his case out of court, but should leave it some ground to stand upon. The spec tacle of this jim-crow lawyer exploit ing his grotesque ideas before the Sen ate committee seems to have afforded considerable innocent amusement, into the spirit of which Mr. Mitchell did not enter with much enthusiasm.

The gentlemen who spoke for Sa Pedro presented a strong and complete ase, so far as the hearing progress which could not have failed to impres the committee favorably. The gentle men on the other side were less tunate, having practically no case, they doubtless did the best they could under adverse circumstances.

The hearing will probably be com whether Huntington's "pull" is stronge than the influence of the California nembers of both houses, the testimony of government experts, the unanswer able logic of facts, and the designs of Divine Providence in creating a natural harbor at San Pedro.

A great deal is being published just now about "what Mr. Hanna says." Cleveland special to the Chicago Inter Ocean reports the following, which The Times indorses throughout:

that through some occult instrumentality whenever times have become depressed and we have been dreadful of the ragged edge, some new enterprise has always started in the nick of time to give our people work.

According to the Huntington organ's fake "dispatch," Senator Jones "was indignant" because the people of Los Angeles refuse to sell their birthright for the sake of having the government pour to benefit himself and Huntington. Very naturally! Mr. Jones's indignation must have been of a very intense kind if it was proportionate to his property interests on the Santa Monica waterfront. Senator Jones's indignation will have plenty of time to cool before the government begins to pour out its wealth in the Santa Monica roadstead.

Clear Statement of Public Opinion in Illinois.

Question Asked of Mr. Harrison of Indiana.

Popular Vote in New York—The "Logical Candidate"—Anti-McKin-ley Men Are Getting Nervons. Campaign Shots.

Henry L. Stoddard, writing from Chicago to the New York Mail and Express, says: "The overwhelming number of McKinley delegates outside of Chicago, in Illinois evidences the strength of the popular feeling through the State for the Ohlo candidate. It is indeed remarkable that, handicapped with almost one-third of the convention chosen by sone numerical between carriers. chosen by snap primaries here against them, with a powerful machine reach-ing out everywhere to thwart them, the McKinley men could go out through the interior and make such a showing as they do today. They have left Cul-lom with only six counties that he can claim as his beyond dispute, while they have thirty-two. With the two nationa delegates from his own Congress dis-trict also instructed for McKinley, the Senator should realize before it is too late to escape humiliating defeat that there is a widespread sentiment in this State, as elsewhere, against using the "favorite son" plea for the 'selfish interests of a bosses' combine. His showing up to date is not such as to inspire any great hope that he will be indorsed at Springfield."

A Man of Honor, or Not?

(Philadelphia Telegram:) Benjamin Harrison is either a man of honor or he is not When the ex-President, in the most when the ex-President, in the most formal manner possible, in an official communication, over his own signature, addressed to the chairman of the Republican Committee of the State, declared in the most positive language that he would not be a candidate before the St. Louis convention, and would not authorize the use of his name in that connection, it was supand would not authorize the use of his name in that connection, it was supposed that he meant what he said, and there is no reason to believe that he did not. It is the province of any man, in public or private life, to change his mind, having sufficient reason therefor. But it is not the privilege of any one else to assume that a citizen who has been honored with the first office in the land is capable of deliberate deception and low-down political trickery. Gen. Harrison could have had, and doubtless would have had, the united support of the delegation from his own State had he entered the field for the Republican nomination. The situation was such, as it is today, that diverse elements might be willing to agree to the selection of the ex-President as the Republican standard-bearer this year, and it is undeniable that throughout business circles the former executive is regarded with very great respect and confidence. But it is trilling with a wellearned reputation and setting a victous example to the rising generation to try to make it appear that Gen. Harrison is a Janus-faced politician, looking one way and working another; that he is insincere, over-ambitious and cowardly.
The attempt of certain professional politicians, not one of whom in his heart desires the success of this movement, to make a combination in favor of the man from Indiana is a piece of political; chicanery that must be condemned by every honorable. American citizen, regardless of his political views.

McKinley'in New York.

(Cleveland World:) The New York Mail and Express has concluded its popular Presidential voting contest: The first choice stood: McKinley 7936, Reed 1121, Allison 649, Harrison 425, Morton 270, with many scatering votes. The second choice vote stood: McKinley 5438, Reed 1041, Allison 326, Harrison 313, Morton 342, Wolcott 34, Lincoln and Foraker 14 each, with many scattering. It is certainly a poor showing for Morton-when in his own State he stands fifth in order in both the first and second choice fields. As in every other part of the country, the McKinley sentiment in and about New York is predominant. As compared with Reed, McKinley stands 7 to 1, with Allison 13 to 1, with Harrison 19 to 1, and with Morton, in his own State, as 30 to 1. No wonder those who want a President who is controlled only by the people are humping themselves.

Harrison Taken at His Word. The following letter was written by W. R. Holloway of Indianapolis to the published in that paper:
"Sir: The following extract is from a special in your Sunday issue from this special in your Sunday issue from this city:

"The men who have come to be known as the "Harrison stalwarts" are predicting that McKinley will not have the solid vote of Indiana on the first ballot. Some of them go so far as to say that he may consider himself lucky if he gets half the State's vote. There are intimations of an understanding with leaders of the anti-McKinley movement in different parts of the country. It is said that if the plans that have been matured do not miscarry, the eight delegates from the State, who have been instructed to vote for McKinley as long as there is a reasonable chance for his nomination, may find themselves in an embarrassing situation at the beginning of the convention."

"Similar statements have been sent from this city to other papers, and is a part of a systematic effort by a few persons who are attempting to make ex-President Harrison a candidate for the Republican nomination for President, notwithstanding his letter of declination. Their principal object just now is to create the impression that McKinley is losing ground in this State, when the reverse is true, and will not secure the vote of Indiana at the St. Louis convention; next, to defeat instructions to the four delegates-at-large to be chosen by the State convention to be held in this city on May 7. The friends of Gov. McKinley at this place are in constant communication with the be held in this city on May 7. The friends of Gov. McKinley at this place are in constant communication with the supporters of that gentleman in every county in Indiana, and are confident that it would not be possible to select a convention of representative Republicans at this time that could be prevented from instructing for William McKinley for President. In fact, the McKinley sentiment is so pronounced in all parts of Indiana that no effort whatever has been made to elect delegates who favored another candidate, and up to the present time every person spoken of as a candidate for delegate-allarge before the approaching state convention, is a pronounced Mckinley man; hence all 'predictions' that any portion of the twenty-six district delegates alrendy selected are likely to violate their pledges by refusing to vote for McKinley is a gratuitous insult to said delegates and without a warrant of truth.

"Gen. Harrison's best friends accepted his letter of declination as meaning just what he said, and many of their number are among the most influential and earnest supporters of Gov. McKinley's candidacy. The opinion is confidently expressed that he will announce his disapproval of this use of his name in this connection at an early date."

ple anywhere from the Atlantic to the Pacific but you find McKinley under it. Chauncey M. Depew was in California the other day, where he made a speech to the Union League Club of San Francisco. He referred in his speech to all the Republican candidates who had been named for the Presidency. As he spoke their names in turn, Morton. Allison and Reed were heartly applauded, but the name of McKinley brought the entire audience to their feet—the applause was deafening. The incident is significant. It means that the popular demand for McKinley is as strong on the Pacific Coast as in the Mississippi Valley, and that the political bosses who are trying to hold it down in New York, Pennsylvania and New England might as well try to cork up a cyclone in a beer bottle.

The "Logical Candidate."

The "Logical Candidate."

(New York Commercial Advertiser.)
The World is right in saying that he (Mr. Cleveland) is 'the "logical candidate." He ought to be nominated at Chicago. Nothing would please Republicans better. In no other way could the interests of justice be so effectually served. When Mr. Cleveland was elected for the second time this country was at the high-water mark of prosperity. Nobody, dreamed of a deficit. The prediction that three years of Democratic rule would paralyze American industries lessen the average wage rate from 20 to 30 per cent., and increase the national debt by $262,000,000, would have been regarded as ridiculous by sane business men. Yet this is precisely what has happened. Mr. Cleveland's obstinate determination to uproot protection to American interests and his fixed antipathy to all legislation bearing the Republican stamp, have resulted in a tariff which has crippled nearly every agency of production, abolished reciprocity, created a perpetual deficit and kept business in disastrous uncertainty.

Anti-McKinley Men Nervous.

(New York Mail and Express from Washington:) The failuse to secure any confirmation or denial from Florida in regard to the rumors about Senator Quay's position is making the anti-Mc-Kinley men exceedingly nervous. They have been predicting that the Pennsylvania Senator was about to speak on the subject, but three days have passed and nothing has been heard from the Everglades. The Robinson interview has angered many of the Quay men and the Congressman has been called some pretty hard names by his colleagues, but he holds his ground and relierates his statements. He said today: "What I have said and what I say now is that it is my opinion if Mr. McKinley continues to triumph as he has been doing in other parts of the country, Mr. Quay will step aside by the time the Pennsylvania State convention meets, and the convention will indorse McKinley."

Hill After It. A Washington special says: "The statement is made that Hill is confer-ring with the New Yorkers with a view of securing a solid New York delegaof securing a solid New York delegation in his own interests to the Chicago convention. Unless he is a candidate for President, Hill will be one of the hig four of Chicago, and head the delegation. Ex-Gov. Flower will be at the head of the New York Democratic phalanx if Hill's name is to be presented. Congressman Franklin Bartlett, son-in-law of Charles A. Dana, and a friend of Senator Hill, expressed the opinion that Hill could have instructions from the Empire State if he desired them. Said Mr. Bartlett: "Any Democratic candidate for President can carry New York this year on a soundmoney platform. My own opinion is that Mr. Whitney should be the nominee, if he can be induced to accept, which is doubtful."

The Kind of Man Wanted (Detroit Journal:) The report that the A.P.A. will oppose McKinley's nomination because he declines to recognize any faction in the Republican party, or any faction in the Republican party, or make any pledges to any secret organization, may or may not be true, but it does not alter the unalterable fact that McKinley is right in his determination. The candidate who trims his sails to catch every passing breeze is not the kind of a pilot the people want to steer the ship of state. If Mr. McKinley is nominated he will be the candidate of the Republican party, without entangling alliances anywhere, and the Republican platform will be his platform. That is the kind of a man he is.

(Wheeling, W. Va., Register:) William C. Whitney would beat any man the Republican party could put up if the Republican party could put up if he would accept the nomination of the Chicago convention. He would beat McKinley, "hands down." Mr. Whitney is the first choice of West Virginia Democrats, but, as we have said, any of the excellent Democrats now named as Presidential possibilities could be elected on a platform which shall declare for the money of the Constitution, and for the protection of the people against the organized assaults of bloated and arrogant monopoly.

(Minneapolis Tribune:) J. S. Clarkson is talking a good deal out of proportion to what he says.

(Chicago Times-Herald:) Mr. Clarkson's effort to smother the McKinley hoom with unfriendly interviews has been added to that large collection of political plans which have failed. (Toledo Blade:) And now Quay is edging toward the McKinley bandwagon and before long he will be occupying a seat and Pennsylvania will go where it rightly belongs, into the McKinley column.

(New York Mail and Express.) ExGov. Boies of Iowa dragged his Presidential boom out on the prairie on Monday, and the next day the State was swept by a terrific blizzard. If it survives the storm it may stand some show in the Chicago convention.

(Chicago Chronicle.) Neither Reed, Morton nor Allison keeps such a tally clerk as Grosvenor at Washington to furnish a delegate list with the standing of candidates. The reason is, probably, that they have no lists of delegates "to speak of."

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

LOS ANGELES THEATER. LOS ANGELES THEATER. "The Politician" had another field night at the Los Angeles Theater, and the doughty Gen. Limber carried everything unanimously. Mr. Reed and his clever people will present "The Woman Hater" at the matinee this afternoon, and "Lend Me Your Wife," another great comedy, will be the bill for tonight.

BURBANK. The last two perform ances of "The Charity Girls," and "Pinafore," will be given at the Burbank this afternoon and evening. Tomorrow night "The Mikado" will be again produced, the Carleton season closing next week.

ORPHEUM. The breezy show at this house goes on drawing big audiences mightly, and there is a big fund of good things in the programme. Not to see the Corty Brothers in their funny act on the parallel bars is to miss a year of life. The Andersons are still stepping gaily to the sort of music that is made by the Darktown Band, and there are plenty of other engaging features which go to guarantee an evening of solid enjoyment.

COMING ATTRACTIONS. Popular Peter F. Dailey, with his new play, will be at the Los Angeles Theater, Thursday evening of next week. Everybody knows Pete. He is a jolly, rollicking comedian, and fills houses from Maine to California. He comes this year with a new play called "The Night Clerk." The play was written by John J. McNally, the dramatic critic of the Boston Herald. He is the author of all Dailey's successes, and this is said to be the best he has so far evolved. It is said he has a good company with him, which includes Jennie Yeamans, Gertrude Fort, John Sparks, Raymond Hitchcock, Rita Emerson, Freda Depew, Bertie Dyar, Ida Rock, Eva Butler, Olympia Quartette, Peter Randall, William Keough, M. J. Sullivan, Lawrence Sheehan, Hugh Mack, Charles Sturgis, Alice Hodges, Amy Reeves and Rene Stretti.

HAZARD'S PAVILION. The Elleford Company close a most successful week at the above house tonight. There will be a family matinée this afternoon at 2 o'clock, when Dan Sully's comedy, "The Corner Grocery," will be 'nresented. Tonight the popular melodrama, "The Streets of New York," with new specialties, will be introduced. The Elleford Brass Band will give a band concert in Central Park Sunday from 1 to 2 p.m.

The Anxious Patrons of a Chinese

Down on East Fifth street between Main and Los Angeles, is a Chinese laundry. Recently the owner sold out his business to another Chinaman and his business to another Chinaman and departed, no one knows where. All alike met with the same remonse.

went to the laundry and asked for their garments. All alike met with the same response, a vacant stare a shake of the head and the words that they must wait till the former owner came back and sorted out the clothes.

Pay followed day and the ex-owner was still gone. The impatient customers asked how soon they might expect him, and were horrified on hearing it might be several weeks. They appealed to the police. Officer Reynolds, who patrols by day the district in which the laundry stands, paid a call upon the laundryman, but he got no better satisfaction than the customers.

It looks as if the customers would have to wait, with the best grace possible under the circumstances, until the former owner returns, unless some one will undergo the trouble and expense of taking out a search warrant or a complaint. Perhaps the best thing for the customers to do would be to join forces, arm themselves with guns, knives, revolvers, cutiasses, daggers, sabers and a small Gatting gun, and then lay siege to the laundry. It is safe to say that in ten minutes each one would be on his way triumphantly home, with his bundle of clothes under his arm.

At 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon one of the drivers of the Anchor Steam Laundry tried to cross the street-carracks on Grand avenue near Sixteenthitreet in front of a moving car. John F. Smith, proprietor of the Poor Man's Inn at No. 218 East Third street, owns a dwelling at No. 1146 East Twenty-eighth street. He has rented the house to F. G. Gates. Smith was not content to let the Gates family run the place to suit themselves, but must needs pay frequent visits to the dwelling and potter about the house and the garden. Gates objected and told the landlord he must stop bothering so much. Smith did not heed, but went to the house while no one was at home, entered, and disturbed the furniture and belongings of the Gates family.

The next time Gates and Smith met there was a lively quarrel. Gates struck his landlord. Forthwith Smith swore to a complaint and yesterday Gates was arrested.

How to see Mount Lowe. Like other mountain resorts, the best views are to be had during the evenings and mornings, and the worst in the middle of the day, as that is the time, if ever, the mists of the valley rise and obscure the charming landscape. Besides, for health and pleasure there is no place on the Pacific Coast where a long stay can be enjoyed so much, or where so fine accommodations can be obtained at moderate rates. But visitors whose time is limited can see and enjoy more in one night at Echo Mountain House than in one month at ordinary places. The Great Telescope, the World's Fair Premium Searchlight, the lighted cities below, resembling at night a "lake of diamonds," the magnificent sunsets and sunrises, the wonderful morning and evening echoes, together with a ride over the most scenic mountain railway in the world, afford more lasting pleasure than all else on the Pacific Coast combined. Elegant hotels, superior table, courteous attendance. Numerous suites of rooms with bath. Open wood and gas fire in every room. Telegraph, telephone, express office, postoffice with money order department. Six trains each way daily. 25-cent hotel coupons issued for Alpine Tavern or Echo Mountain to the valley and return, while guests at the hotels. Visitors leaving Los Angeles in the morning car can lunch at Alpine Tavern, 5000 feet above sea level, and take in the grandest horseback ride on the globe to the higher summits, and view the thousands of snowpeaks, with range of four hundred miles in diameter, returning in time for afternoon trains to the valley.

lored Campmeeting in the Capital... By Cy Warman. In a big tent on the banks of the Potomac the colored brethren and sisters of Washington gather together night after night and sing, always the same old song:

"By cool Siloam's shady rills,
How fair the illy grows."

Mr. Warman, who lives within the range of these nocturnal voices, has been inspired to develop the thought contained in this familiar couplet. He has seen the pool of Siloam and is able to say positively that there is not a shade tree near it; that there is not even a lily fair, and no rills; the closest suggestion of these being the green water that oozes out around the edges of the stagnant slough. In short, he intimates that the locality of the back-waters at the foot of the colored Campmeeting grounds at Washington is hygienically preferable to that of Siloam's pool. Mr. Warman is a close observer of human nature as well as efthings, and has a way peculiarly his own in setting forth his obthings, and has a way peculiarly his own in setting forth his ob-

Directly following, and riding alone, came Dixey Thompson, riding a large chestnut horse, and displaying his famous silver-mounted saddle and bridle, which recall all the extravagance of early days.

Next marched a battalion of 250 men from the great cruiser, Philadelphia, the flagship of the Pacific squadron. This gallant troop of sailors and marines sent by the courtesy of Admiral Beardslee and Capt. Cotton to grace the Flower Festival, unade an imposing spectacle as it marched past the tribunes filled wifet cheering spectators and looked sufficiently warlike to strike terror to the heart of any foe, notwithstanding the big bunch of roses which tipped the muzzle of each rifle, and smothered the sharpness of each shining bayonet.

It was occupied by two fair women, Mrs. and Miss Felton of Montecito, both in dainty gowns and picture hats, which harmonized well with the decoration of the carriage. This was an excellent representation of Dresden china. Upon a close-fitting white cover were fastened clusters and wreaths of roses in the patterns used upon this delicate ware, the wheels being covered by palm leaves. The white horses were harnessed in pale-pink satin, and the general verdict pronounced the dainty affair deserving of a better fate than the third prize.

He was driven by D. A. Bannerman, who seemed to be on the best of terms with the superb creature which answered so obediently to the lightest touch of his driver's hand. The third prize for carts was awarded to this airy vehicle.

The third prize for carts was awarded to this airy vehicle.

The next cart was the winner of the first prize, and was a decided novelty in the scheme of color, being covered with the tiny belis of the pygonieum, a beautiful wild flower which shades from delicate green into a dull, bronzy pink. Miss Eleanor Colt and Miss Vaughn, the two pretty girls who rode in the cart, were both gowned in fluffy, pale-green tulle, with wide hats of the same, and the horse was harnessed in green ribbons.

The second prize for carts was borne off by a village cart with a floral cancanopy. The entire vehicle was decorated with pink roses against an olive background, and was drawn by a white horse harnessed in pink satin. The cart was entered by Miss Anna S. C. Blake, and was occupied by Miss Basil Lord and Miss Coutolenc, both gowned in pink and green, with large hats of chiffon to match.

Next in order came & gallant troop of pink and green, with large hats of chiffon to match.

Next in order came a gallant troop of college lads from Prof. Thatcher's school in the Ojai Valley, nine of them: Messrs. T. F. Bradley, H. S. Bilson, P. R. Brown, P. S. Palmer, E. A. Palmer, C. C. Smith, I. P. Weeden, W. McCormick and C. Carne. All were dressed in white duck, with broad white sombreros and lavender sashes, and all rode spirited horses, the collars and saddle blankets being of the delicate purple blossoms of the brodia. This cavalcade was one of the most effective in the procession, and brodia. This cavalcade was one of the most effective in the procession, and was warmly greeted by the crowd, which applauded warmly when it was announced that the boys had won the second prize for equestrian novelty.

A FARM WAGON. A pretty wagon which followed was that of the Santa Barbara Club, which the floral missiles showered upon them. This was the only tandem entry, but it would have been safe for the first prize had there been a hundred.

Next came a miniature carriage, covered with geraniums and La Marque roses and drawn by four pretty plebald ponies, driven by George A. Mack, who was accompanied by Miss Jessie Nelson. This was the entry of Miss Alice P. Williams.

THE HOTEL MEN.

This was the entry of Miss Alice P. Williams.

THE HOTEL MEN.

The Citizens' Guard Band of San Diego. Which accompanied the Hotel Men's Association to Santa Barbara, marched next, supplying lively music for this division of the parade, and then came more carriages. A low phaeton covered with yellow Banksia roses was drawn by a powerful brown horse harnessed in yellow, and the occupants of the carriage, Miss Lacy and Miss Lord, were charming in gowns of pale-yellow tulle that harmonized with the flowers. This pretty turnout took the first prize for a single phaeton.

The next carriage was artistically perfect as a representation of a Roman charlot, covered with pink roses, and drawn by three splendid black horses, harnessed abreast with straps and rosettes of pink satin. The two outer horses were led by stalwart negroes, dressed as Roman slaves in pink tunics, chains and sandals, while another thy negro boy, also dressed as a slave, rode in the charlot with the two beautiful Roman maidens, who charged gallantly into the thick of the fight, parrying all missiles with their rose-garlanded shields. Miss Constance Delaney and Miss Rosamond Meigs were the fair warriors, and were gowned in flowing classic robes, one of green silk and one of pink, with ornaments of golden chains and Roman pearls. This was one of the best things in the pageant, and a little disappointment was expressed over the announcement that it had been awarded only the second prize for novelty.

A NOVELTY IN FLOATS.

A NOVELTY IN FLOATS

A NOVELTY IN FLOATS.

A novel float was that of the Santa Ynez Flour Mill, and was entered by Mr. Fonnereau, who also designed it. A large Holland windmill was the model chosen for the tall structure, the lower being made of pepper boughs, and the huge fans of pepper, geraniums and roses.

Showers of blossoms and thunders of Showers of blossoms and thunders of applause greeted the next prize-winner, the tinlest of carts, covered with yellow marigolds, and drawn by a silky white Angora goat, harnessed in yellow satin ribbons. This puzzled and rebellious little beast was dragged along by Joe Elizalde, a siender, dark-eyed lad, dressed in white, with a yellow sash. In the cart was the very small Miss resource of the country of which she is the presiding genius. At the back the two corners were occupied one by a plow, designed to represent agriculture, and the other by a ship, standing for commerce, both pieces being formed of the yellow marigolds. In front Charles Gilchrist sat on the right, garbed as a miner of '19, the ideal miner in yellow satin and black velvet, with the traditional pick in this case formed of flowers. Opposite him was a brown bear, so realistic that it was hardly possible to realize that his shaggy fur was only pampas plumes dyed brown. For once, the decision of the judges which awarded the first prize for the best decorated floral float to this dazzling creation, was received with unanimous applause. Hardly had the splendid blaze of color swept by when renewed cheers greeted the float designed by D. Hirschler to commemorate the discovery of the Bithynia mineral water. The whole scheme of this float was classic and imposing. High in a shrine of wild oats and marguerites stood Santa Barbara, with a palm branch in her hand. At the foot of the steps leading to the shrine knelt a Franciscan monk, offering the saint a bunch of rare flowers plucked from beside the newly-discovered spring. Miss Paulina de la Guerra, a tall and stately young woman dressed in a rich Grecian robe of brown and royal purple, with a golden crown upon her head, made an imposing Santa Barbara, and Manuel Carrillo was a particularly devout-looking monk in the florence. The idea word-famous picture after the description of the prize for the design of the world-famous picture after the description of the proposition of the propo with their little wooden rakes. The fair maidens were Miss Rowe, Miss Gunn and Miss Kirby of San Francisco, and the Misses Lacy of Santa Barbara. A company of merry little maids who managed their prancing flower-decked steeds to perfection next rode into the field of vision. A prettier sight could not well be imagined than this troop of dainty, childish equestriennes. The first prize was won by Miss Alice M. Day, a bonny little lassie mounted on a spirited gray horse, with trappings of the purple brodia. The short, fluffy white skirts of the little rider were trimmed with the same flowers, which also formed her belt and the wreath on her fair little head.

Miss Margaret Fulton was awarded the second prize. She was dressed to represent a yellow marguerite, and her pretty bay pony was decorated with the same flower. The third rrize was given to Miss Clarinda Standard, who rode a handsome brown attracted much attention by his lively prancing. The saddle cloth and bridle were of white La Marque roses, and the fair young rider was dressed in white, with decorations of the same flower.

Miss Lottie Allen was dressed to represent a pink rose, and the garniture of her horse was entirely of Duchess roses. Miss Amy Brown was dressed in white, and rode a black horse, with trappings of white marguerites.

The three prizes for ladies on horse-back were awarded as follows: The first to Miss Jennie Spence, who represented a bird of paradise in a costume of Nile green, trimmed with the strelltzia; the second to Miss Jennie Rutherford, who was dressed in black and mounted on a black horse, with trappings of red satin, and the third to Miss Linda Romero, who was costumed in pink and black, and rode a sorrel horse with trappings of pink roses.

Following the riders were four Spanish musicians playing gay Spanish airs on their guitars as they rode along. These were awarded the second prize for Spanish cavalcade.

A large basket, made of geraniums and the green leaves, was the carriage from Miramar, which took the second prize for decorated farm wagons. The eight occupants were dressed in pink and green to represent the flowers and leaves, and were: Mrs. Mower, Mrs. Daggett, Miss Brown, Miss McDonald, and Messrs. Moore, O'Brien, Dormer and Mower.

AS TO PHAETONS.

The first prize for the best-decorated two-horse phaeton was given to that tured the first prize for children's vehicles.

The first prize for novelty was awarded to a couple of sedan-chairs that brought back recollections of the days when George III was King. One was covered with Duchess roses and the other with La Marque, and the panels were outlined in smilax. The two dainty damsels who occupied the chairs were Misses Mary and Lorena Stewart, and both were dressed in the style of a century ago, with all the pretty affectations of powdered hair and patches. Four stalwart young men in continental costumes of pink, white and green carried the chairs, and seemed to take a thorough pleasure in the pretty burdens.

The next carriage was a puzzle to any, until a luminous idea struck the crowd, and a general exclamation of "Mephisto and Marguerite" announced the design cleverly worked out by Clifford Logan and Miss Rose Logan. The third prize for novelty was taken by the entry of Elwood Cooper, three tall ladders wreathed with olive branches and roses in the festival colors of white, pink and yellow.

Misses Monica and Rebecca Romero made a picture of dark Spanish beauty in a low carrige framed in the golden mustard-biossoms so typical of Southern California, and this carriage proved very attractive, especially to eastern visitors.

A troop of equestrians made the next feature of the parade. Of these Miss Lottle Allen, in floral costume and superbly mounted, carried off one of the third prizes. R. Kinton Stevens was, by unanimous consent, awarded the first prize for equestrian novelty. Magnificently mounted, he was dressed as a knight, in armor made of overlapping ivy leaves, with a long cloak of yellow marguerites, and a helmet of the same brilliant flowers. The longs spear was wreathed with flowers, which also covered the shield and the housings of the horse. This was one of the most unique and striking features in the pageant, the knight's costume being artistically perfect and worked out with most careful attention to detail.

The first prize for the best decorated equestrian was easily carried off by the veteran prize-winner. Ronald Thomas, who surpassed himself on this occasion in artistic costuming. Mounted upon a fine sorrel horse, with trappings of lavender satin covered with prodia, and a cavaller cape covered with brodia and a cavaller cape covered with brodia swung from his shoulders. In order to do this properly, four more men will be necessary. I therefore ask your honorable body to grant me this necessary help."

The Council referred the petition to the Superintendent of Buildings. That official, as is his wont, reported promptly to the Council, recommending that if the petition should be granted, the bank should be required to construct the steps of stone, and place an iron railing on the sidewalk, to protect the traveling public from any danger in the premises. Then the Council referred the Building Superintendent's recommendation to the Building Committee, of which Councilman Blanchard is chairman. HIS SECOND TRIAL

Nichols Up Again for the Murder of Eleven jurors only were secured yes-terday to sit in the trial of A. L. Nichols, the street-car conducter, on the charge of murder, and a venire for ten talesmen was issued, returnable today. Nichols is the man who had an altercation with J. W. Kirk on the Vernon railway on account of a dog, Vernon railway on account of a dog, the trouble culminating in Kirk's ejectment from the car and subsequent assault. From the injuries received at Nichols's hands he never recovered, remaining in a comatose condition until his death, some time after the assault was committed. Nichols has been tried once, but escaped conviction, the jury having disagreed.

The jurors obtained yesterday were: W. L. Cuthbert, George A. Nadeau, W. T. Clapp, D. R. Browning, George R. Shipway, Frank R. Slaughter, J. W. Eyestone, B. D. Walker, Edgar J. Durrell, C. L. Northcraft and — Day.

The trial of the suit brought by the Southern Pacific Rallway Company against the Pomona Land and Water against the Pomona Land and Water Company commenced yesterday before Judge York and a jury. It is sought to condemn a right-of-way for a branch railroad from San Dimas to Pomona. Diagrams showing the route surveyed were explained to the jury and the cause was continued until next Tuesday for further hearing. As the defendant company is contesting the desired order, it is expected the trial will-consume the most of next week. H. S. West, a juror, was taken ill and excused from further attendance at the trial.

William Smith was brought before a commission in lunacy yesterday and subjected to examination as to his sanity. He was frightening children and chasing the cats of San Pedro when arrested. His mind was evidently wandering, though he answered some questions intelligently. He has been staying at the Soldiers' Home at Santa Monica, having served in the Sixth Ohlo Cavalry. A saber cut on the right side of his head, it is thought, might have brought about his derangement. He is flithy in his habits and in need of restraint, but just what to do with him is a matter for some debate. Judge Van Dyke ordered him sent to the county farm until 9:30 Monday, when he will come up again for final determination of his case.

Monte Vista Case Dismissed.

In Justice Young's court yesterday the cause of the people against John McVine and seven associates came up for a second trial before a jury. The former jury disagreed. Defendants were charged with malicious mischlef in destroying a fence around a park at Monte Vista, alleged to belong to Mary L. Barclay, complaint having been made by Frank Barclay. The park had been considered public property and the young men, resenting the attempt to inclose it as belonging to a private estate, tore away the fence and continued to use it in common. The attorneys agreed as to the facts and the cause was submitted to the court on a question of law. Justice Young was of the opinion that no malicious intent could be inferred, and granted the motion of defendants for dismissal of the case. Monte Vista Case Dismissed.

Gab Works Still Going. The cause of Boothe et al. vs. B. Duncan was still dragging slowly along yesterday in Department Two of the Superior Court. Judge Noyes was patiently bearing the trouble and the clerk was whiling away the tedious hours as best he might, while the defendant, in the capacity of attorney for himself, harassed the winesses. M. L. Graff, Esq., of counsel for plaintiff, made no further objection to the torrent of language poured out and the stream was coming out in undiminished volume at the hour of adjournment. The cause will go on till noon today, when it will be continued until next Tuesday, by which time it is expected the defendant will have got his second wind and be prepared to run till after the fiesta. JUDGMENT SUSTAINED. outhside Company Must Deliver Irrigation Water.

A decision of the Supreme Court came down for filing at the local office yesterday, the case being entitled Mattle H. Merrill vs. the Southside Irrigation Company of the Company of th tion Company, a corporation, a man-damus proceeding to compel defendant to furnish plaintiff water to irrigate her land, upon tender of the reasonable and customary charges for the water. Plaintiff had judgment in consonance with the prayer of her patition. and customary charges for the water. Plaintiff had judgment in consonance with the prayer of her petition. Appeal was from the judgment and an order denying a motion for a new trial. The objects of the corporation are to care for and manage the water and sewage flowing through any or all of the sewers of Los Angeles city, and to distribute and to sell the same for purposes of irrigation. etc. Defendant admits that it procured a right-of-way across the land of plaintiff, and placed therein a pipe of a capacity of 450 inches. sufficient to supply water for the irrigation of plaintiff's land, but denies that it has the capacity, or that defendant has the water to supply plaintiff and all the lands that lie under the flow of the ditch that need water for irrigation; that it has a steady supply of only 180 inches, to which it has occasionally added by purchase from the city zanjas, and that all its water has been sold to persons along the line needing water for irrigation, and that it could not supply the demand of plaintiff without depriving others of needed water, etc., and that if it had 450 inches of water, it would all be needed by such other persons.

The court found that the plaintiff and S. A. Fleming conveyed to defendant on February 21. 1889, the right-of-way in question for a nominal consideration, but that the real inducement for such conveyance was an understanding (not in writing) that plaintiff could have water found that the plaintiff could have water found that the plaintiff could have water found that the plaintiff could have water found of the proper defendant.

tion, but that the real inducement for such conveyance was an understanding (not in writing) that plaintiff could have water from defendant's pipe to irrigate her land; that water was furnished to her for a time, and then, defendant having extended its pipe line, sold its water to others and refused to furnish needed water to plaintiff according to agreement. The Supreme Court holds that defendant having supplied plaintiff with water and having sufficient on hand to continue such supply, was not at liberty without good cause to refuse to supply her while she was ready and willing to pay the established price therefor.

was ready and willing to pay the es-tablished price therefor.

The decison was written by Commis-sioner Searles, and concurred in by Commissioners Haynes and Van Clief. For the reasons therein given the judg-ment and order appealed from are af-firmed by Justices Harrison, Garoutte and Van Fleet.

He is a fine type of the careful, learned, New England lawyer.

Though but 56 years of age, he was a member of the Verment Legislature a third of a century age, and again in 1874, when he was speaker of the House. He has been State Censor, a member of the Constitutional Convention and of the State Senate. In 1874 he became judge of the Supreme Court of Verment, and remained on the bench until 1890, when he took his seat in Congress. Judge Powers presided at many of the most notable trials in the history of the State, and is the author of many of the most important opinions to be found in Vermont reports.

No judge on the supreme bench in any of our States has a reputation for more clearly and unmistakably expressing his opinions. His unqualified indorsement of Paine's colery compound in the following letter is as straightforward and concise as any one of his thoughtful charges to a jury:

WENDELL EASTON, President. GEO. D. EASTON, Secretary.

By far the best use that any tired or alling person can make of these precious spring days is to purify their blood and regulate their nerves with Paine's celery compound. It is plain to any observant person that the best remedy for neuralists, persistent headaches and such like indications of low nervous vigor, is the one that most rapidly and completely nourishes the wornout parts. It is not in the power of any other remedy to do the vigorous work of Paine's celery compound in strengthening the jaded system, and in bringing it back to an energetic healthy condition.

The real danger that stares sick people in the face is the putting off attending to sickness and disease, and letting slip these health-inviting spring days, when averything so strongly favors getting well. This greatest of all spring remedies is doing an astonishing amount of good these days among sick people and those semi-invalids who are "run down" by the long, trying winter, or worn out and afflicted by disease.

Northern Pacific Bondholders As-sent to Registration Plan—Eight Millions Represented by Deposits-Great Northern.

SAN RERNARDING, April 17.-Sherern Railroad to the California and Eastern Railway Company, and deeds were placed on record in the County Recorder's office. Sheriff Holcomb executed his deed by virtue of Judgment and order of sale of the Superior Court of San Bernardino county, made and of San Bernardino county, made and entered on the 28th day of August, 1895, wherein R. W. Woodbury, J. S. Bright, W. N. Crandall and others were plaintiffs, taking judgment against the Nevada Southern and other defendants in the sum of $153,966. Receiver R. S. Seibert executed his deed by virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Superior Court of Los Angeles county for the sum of $151,710, and at each of these sales K. B. Anderson of New York City was the purchaser.

The California and Eastern Raliway Company has purchased these certificates of sale of K. B. Anderson, and hence the Sheriff and receiver deeded the road with rolling stock and all appurtenances, together with a right-of-way from Blake through Manvel and about ten miles beyond Vanderbilt to the California and Eastern directors.

Judge Dillon, one of the directors of the new company, states that the line of road will be extended about fifty miles to Goode Springs, where work will cease for the present. From Goode Springs it is only 110 miles to Pioche, to which point through Southern Nevada a road has already been graded.

Receiver Seibert, who has had charge of the running operations of the road for some time, gives it as his opinion that the proposed extension when complete will place the road on a good, paying basis, as it will tap a rich mineral belt and good agricultural country.

MORTGAGE BONDS DEPOSITS.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The deposits of Northern Pacific first mortgage bonds by holders who have assented to the registration plan now amount to more than $8,000,000. This action is regarded as very favorable to the success of the plan, since the assent of those holders and the conversion of their holdings will materially reduce the charges of the new company. It was for some time feared that these holders would decline to convert their bonds, but would hold them in order to get the difference in interest. The expected call of a large number of bonds for the sinking fund at 110, however, is thought to have induced many holders to accept the plan and take 25 ner cent in new prior lies bonds and MORTGAGE BONDS DEPOSITS.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR RATES.
CHICAGO, April 17.—Western roads have agreed upon a rate of one fare for the round trip for the annual convention of the Society of Christian Endeavor, which is to be held at Washington in July. Dates of selling and of final return will depend upon where the ticket is purchased. Arrangements for the extension of the tickets until July 31 may be made by depositing them with joint agent at Washington on or before 6 p.m., July 14.—The ticket swill be good for going only on the date of purchase. The lines of the Western Trunk Line. Association met today in the effort to stiffen up their rates a little. Since the Brown decision was handed down there have been in existence a number of what are called secret tariffs. This is a new method of getting around the decision that some of. the roads have adopted. When a big shipper comes to a road and announces that on a certain date he will have a large amount of goods to be shipped, the road agrees with him as to the rate and then sends word to the Interstate Commerce Commission that on a date corresponding that on which the shipper wishes to get off his goods, the read will make a certain rate on such and such a class of freight. Then the road orgets to notify its competitors of what it has done. As soon as the goods have been shipped the roads sends word to the commission that on a date corresponding the end of ot until the shipper comes around again. This sort of thing has been done frequently of late by a few roas, and some of their competitors are very sore over the matter.

The meeting today was called for the purpose of seeing what could be done to keep these secret tariffs out. No definite plan has been hit upon at a late hour this afternoon.

BETTER THAN MONEY

Public interest for months past has been steadily concentrated upon our national currency. Parties are divided on the question. Men are worked up over it. It means a great deal for the welfare of millions.

There is one way of looking at the question that seems to have been lost sight of. Is it not better to have firty dollars in gold than five dollars in silver? And yet there are many people who are practically throwing away large amounts and holding onto the smaller amount. Many people who might be earning ten times as much as they do, fail because they lack health and energy. Health and strength ropresent a value greater than gold, and yet many people put up with a run-down system, which steals away half their working power. Eventually they lose by sickness and medical expenses and their families suffer, when it might all readily be avoided.

These are hard times. Thousands are succumbing to the strains of life. Ill-health is the rule and not the exception. People need their best strength and energy all the while. Health, which is more valuable than gold, can be maintained, and even secured when it is lost, if the proper care and right remedy are used. And we do not healtaie to say that there are but few men or women who read these words that cannot be put in perfect condition by the use of that great, that grand discovery, Warner's Safe Cure. This entire paper could be filled with testimonials from the grateful ones whose lives have been saved and whose health restored by its use; and if you, reader, are a sufferer, you may readily be among the number. We earnestly recommend you to think seriously upon this subject.

FRAZIER GOES INSANE.

mad. He sits in his cell, mumbling to himself, talking incoherent nonsense. It seems impossible the man is shamming. It is believed that before his arrest he had been drinking heavily. This and the sudden change to total abstinence when he was arrested, may have caused temporary insanity.

One petty larceny case is pending against Frazier. Yesterday an embezziement complaint was sworn out against him, charging him with embezzling gloves, handkerchiefs, muslin, velvet, a bracelet, etc., all bearing Mr. Smith's mark to the value of more than $100. Only enough of the stolen property was specified in the complaint to make Frazier's crime a felony embezzlement.

Frazier was arraigned yesterday before Justice Owens. His answers to all the Judge's questions plainly showed an unhinged mind. Justice Owens set his will not take place, for Frazier has been sent to the County Jali to be held as an Detectives Auble and Hawley felt confident there was more in the case than efforts resulted in implicating him in the commission of several burglaries.

School District Muddle Settled.

Thirteen heads of families residing in Harmony school district petitioned the Board of Supervisors to annex that territory to Los Angeles for school purposes, which petition was granted. A similar petition from Spurgeon G. Riley, County Superintendent of Schools, for the annexation of that part of West Vernon school district yet unannexed was also granted. This will, it is thought, harmonize the opposing factions at Vernon and prevent further controversy over the school property there annexed to the city. A petition from Earl Osborn, residing in Rosedale school district, asking that his property be annexed to the city for school purposes only, also received favorable action.

MR. DAVID WAGNER.

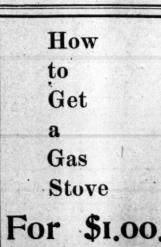

FRESNO, Cal., Feb. 21.—I have scarcely been six hours in Fresno, yet I can report a big success for the Californía remedy. While in one of the leading drugstores of this city I met Mr. David Wagner. He has been using Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, and he tells me that much of his rebustness is due to this great vegetable medicine. He assured me that he was in poor health a few months ago and reading some of our advertisements he decided to try the remedy. The medicine worked like a charm. His bowels soon became regular, the coating of his tungue disappeared and he felt better and better every day. Said he: "I would not take fifty dollars for the benefits I have received from Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. The remedy tasted so well at first I thought it was not medicine. I soon found out the difference. Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla certainly acts on the bowels and blood. Look at my face; there is not a single mark on it to show I have been taking a blood medicine. Many people using blood remedies have their face and hand and body all covered with blood spots, pimples and blemishes. I can testify that Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla brings out no bad blood marks, and it does its work too." I saw a lady, who had used the remedy for rheumatism, and her rheumatism has left her. If the druggists here continue to sell Joy's without trying to substitute, as some druggists do in Fresno, you will have a big sale for Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla this spring. There ought to be some way to prevent druggists substituting. Of course, in time people will find out that Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is the best, and when they do find it out for themselves no one will be able to make them take a substitute for the native remedy.

Mrs. Pitkin read a paper on "The Red Cross Society," which showed a large amount of research. She began with the idea of the cross as an emblem of piety, charity and mercy, and related how the efforts of a man of Switzerland, who had witnessed the horrors of war, and was desirous of doing something that should ameliorate the sufferings of the wounded as much as possible, formed the nucleus of the present extensive organization, mais Clara Barton's connection with the society, and her efforts for its extension were outlined, and the long struggle she made to induce America to become one of the treaty nations was described. The plan of organization, means and methods of relief and hospital work were spoken of. After the reading there was a discussion of the subject.

The fine four-in-hand and six-in-hand tally-hos from the livery stables, and those of Prof. Lowe and the Painter Hotel were also on hand, and the members of the committee of the Board of Trade men appointed for the purpose covered themselves with glory by the promptitude and ease with which they handled the seating of the guests in the vehicles without confusion or delay. Chairman Stearns, mounted on a fine chestnut horse, directed matters, and when the procession moved off down Green street, acted in the capacity of marshal of the day.

The drive about the city was one of great enjoyment to the guests, and their expressions of delight were loud and long, and their praises of the many handsome homes, fine streets and beautiful vistas from various points of vantage were unstinted.

While the guests were being shown the beauties of the town and its environment, the deft fingers and artistic taste of the women who were called to the aid of Mr. and Mrs. Rosenbaum, who acted as Committee on Decorations, transformed the cars into bowers of beauty. Many of the decorations were arranged Thursday, ready to be assily put in place, and ropes of smilax, ferns, carnations, and other blossoms were twined about racks and moldings, clusters of roses, trailing sprays, of Lady Banksia and Gold Ophir, beautiful bouquets and dainty florai devices were disposed, until every one of the twenty-four cars was decorated.

SUGAR CLIMBING HIGHER. Price sugar are steadily advancing on e eastern markets. Granulated sugar is higher 1 cent a pound than it was a year ago. The Philadelphia Grocery World says: "A prominent member of the sugar trade expressed his opinion that granulated sugar would probably go to 6 cents in a very short time, and that there was really no limit to the price possible for it to reach after the sugar market once got into the hands of the syndicate."

WINE TRADE. The Pacific Wine and Spirit Review has this to say of the California wine trade: "The leading jobbers have announced another advance in the price of dry wines of 2½ cents, and the same on sherry. This is calculated to stiffen the market and convince some of the eastern doubters that "wine is going up." We find that the shippers have been very busy during the past half month, some being so pressed as to be unable to get orders out fast enough. This is like the palmy days of the industry's prosperity. Overland shipments during February dropped down to a very low figure, comparatively speaking, but exports by sea were large, including a clipper to New York with 300,000 gallons, and a shipment of 31,000 gallons to London."

geles city refunding bonds of $386,000 that the Legislature could not authorize a debt payable in twenty years to be refunded into a bill payable in forty years, the Los Angeles Investor says: "The situation forced upon the city by this decision is not a pleasant one as, if these bonds may not be refunded the tax-payer will not be obliged to continue to pay a high rate of interest, but it will be necessary, at once, to make provision by a sinking fund for redemption of the bonds at an early date, and a considerable raise in the tax levy would be inevitable, owing to the neglect of former Councils to at once take action under the provisions of the act of 1895, and this course we strongly recommend. No election is needed, and the Council to at once take action under the provisions of the act of 1895, and this course we strongly recommend. No election is needed, and the Council can, by a vote of four-fifths of its number can be admined amount of bonds, and issue new bonds. Such bonds may not be sold, but must be first tendered to the holders of the old bonds for exchange, which will not be difficult to do, so far as a large part of them are concerned, the holders being unknown. Upon refusal to accept the new bonds in exchange, the Council may proceed to sell them to the highest bidder, and there is no reason why they should not bring as good a premium as any yet sold, except for the one drawback that they must be made payable at the Treasurer's office in Los Angeles city. This plan is indeed the only method by which refunding bonds may now be issued, and it is to be regretted that the existence of deed the only method by which refund-ing bonds may now be issued, and it is to be regretted that the existence of the act of 1895 was apparently not suspected by the municipal authorities at the time when the now defunct is-sue of refunders was attempted."

Bradstreet's Review.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Bradstreet's weekly review says that increased activity and advancing quotations have given a more healthy review says that increased activity and advancing quotations have given a more healthy appearance to personner. The movement which developed this week has been attended by a number of gratifying circumstances, among which a leading place should be given to the reappearance of public interest, and to the fact that attention has turned from the manipulated industrials to railroad shares and the more legitimate speculatives generally. Bullish demonstration is to a certain extent based upon the expectation of greater business activity with the progress of spring and the prevalent impression that, despite the damage already done to winter wheat, the season opens auspiciously for other crops. The belief that the session of Congress will soon terminate was not without effect, while the relegation of foreign controversies to a position of secondary choice had a tendency to revive speculative confidence. Above all, however, the changes in London's attitude toward American bonds and stocks was calculated to produce a decided impression here. In fact, the week's bullish movement in our market is in a measure a reflection of what is going on in London, where more or less of a speculative revival is in progress, the enormous and long-pent-up investment demand there having demonstrated its power by a marked rise in consols and home securities. South Africans, so long the absorbing speculative feature of the London market, are now in disfavor and, as would be natural, the speculative actuation of the British public has in a measure turned toward American stocks. Wall street lays much stress on the presence of J. P. Morgan in Europe and, whether correctly or otherwise, credits that gentieman with having used his influence to assist the movement in question. It cannot, indeed, be said that purchasing of stocks for foreig

Dun's Weekly Review.

NEW YORK, April 17.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade, which issues tomorrow, will say that the sudden change from sleighing to midsummer heat, with fair skies in most cities, has tested the prevalent idea that good weather only was needed to bring general improvement in business. Everywhere there has been more retail buying, and in some branches better demand at wholesale and at the works has resulted, but not as yet in most lines. There is no abatement of the almost universal disposition to deal with usual conservatism and not to anticipate future wants, and this heen expectable to the conservation of the second corned or prices advanted. The compacture infrequency of serious failures, with money less disturbed since gold exports began than might have been expected, helps to give encouragement, but does not kindle speculative fires, so that such improvement as appears is mainly of a healthy sort. To many interested in iron ore and coke, steel billets, Bessemer pig and various forms of steel, it may be disappointing that the forming of combinations and fixing of prices have not started again

NEW YORK April 17.—The speculative temper today underwent a change on previous conditions, illustrating the proverbial uncertainty of affairs in Wall street. The course of prices was generally downward, relating the effect of realizations on Wednesday and the effect of realizations on Wednesday and Thursday, and the practical elimination of the short interest. The bear contingent exhibited aggressiveness, being encouraged by liquidation in American securities by foreign dealers. There was thardly the encouraged by liquidation in American securities by foreign dealers. There was thardly the provided and the prov

London Financial Market.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The Evening Post's London financial cablegram says that the feature of the market today was the rise in consols to 112. The bears hoped for some reference in the budget to the suspension of the sinking fund. This not being forthcoming, there was a rush to cover, and hence the rise. There was a further sharp rise in home rails. Americans opened firm but gave way a little on arbitrage, then railled and finally closed a trifle weaker again. Atchison and Southern were especially good. Mines were flat on disquieting South African news as to which some grave opinions are expressed in good quarters. Paris and Berlin markets were firm.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Petroleum was dull United closed at 1.22.

Frank Baldwin Leaves Los Angeles Under Suspicions Circumstances. Frank Baldwin has left Los Ange-

Superintendent's office under D. A. Watson. He was also book-keeper for Crowley, a contractor who did a great deal of grading in this city and then deal of grading in this city and then went down to Arizona.

A short time ago Baldwin associated himself with Will R. Teale, long an employe of the State Loan and Trust Company, in a general brokerage and commission business. They opened an office at No. 26% South Broadway. Several days ago Baldwin left town, saying he was going to San Diego. He was to have returned Saturday, but Saturday came around and no Baldwin had appeared.

On investigation it was found that before leaving Los Angeles Baldwin had drawn all the money the firm had on deposit in the First National Bank, between $400 and $500. On going over the books of the firm a shortage of $313 was found.

The Enoch Talbot Loading Up for Her Next Trip.

Oil remains scarce in quantity and stiff in price. The Oil Exchange is sending ten carloads a day over the Santa Fe to Redondo, to load on board the Enoch Talbot. The new tanks are being put in while the old ones are being filled, and they will be ready to receive oil when the other tanks are full.

We have had application from over five hundred people, who will settle upon the land under the extremely favorable terms offered them by our company."

The Victor dam has been talked of for years. The water and land undoubtedly exist in large quantities, and if they can be brought together, the feasibility of which has sometimes been questioned, the benefit to Southern California will be great.

HUSE'S DAUGHTER SPEAKS.

The following letter has been received from the daughter of Judge Huse, whose mental condition is under investigation. It is åddressed to District Attorney F. B. Daley:

"Dear Sir: Yesterday in reply to your telegram I mailed you an affidavit concerning my unfortunate father's financial position. Today I have received your very kind personal letter. My regret at the sensational turn affairs have taken is inexpressible. I havestried to prepare for every contingency since my father's illness, but never had I dreamed that anything so hideous and false as this could occur. I feel outraged at the officiousness of this irresponsible person. To excite my father to cause his mind to dwell on such monstrous hallucinations; to make him conspicuous, exposing to a curious world his unfortunate condition; to basely implicate others and to pervert their authority and kindness proves this man, Don Florenting Gallardo, a criminal, or no longer a harmless crank. I know my father's physical condition absolutely. I rely unquestionably on Dr. Campbell's estimate of his health. Care of him outside the institution is as impossible now as at the time of his entrance. Mr. Gallardo has been, ever since my early memory, a recipient of my father's bounty, but he is and always has been an irresponsible person, without financial, legal or moral standing. His love of notoriety has led him into this unwarrantable interference. Tomorrow I shall write you officially. My relatives will probably desire my father's release. They are in absolute ignorance of his condition. I am painfully and unfortunately intelligent. I have never cricumstance which might very materially change their minds, but the one great fact of his absence from his family I considered sufficient. Details are not agreeable, and into them I have never entered. It was sufficient to endure them. Under no circumstance after circumstance which might very materially change their minds, but the on

An Insanity Case from Santa Bar-bara—Mayor Resigns.

SAN PEDRO, April 17.—(Regular Correspondence.) What looks like an attempt to saddle the expense of an insanity case from Santa Barbara upon Los Angeles county has been developed here. William Smith, as his name was given, was taken into custody Thurshere. William Smith, as his name was given, was taken into custody Thursday by B. C. Sweet, a citizen. Smith was roaming about the residence portion of the town acting queerly and frightening women and children. At first, a charge of vagrancy was preferred against him, but this was withdrawn and a complaint charging insanity was substituted. The man was taken to Los Angeles for examination today by Constable Schwartz. It has been learned from Furser Crisman of the steamer St. Paul that when the steamer was at Santa Barbara. Tuesday evening the driver of an express wagon, whose name is not known by the purser, put Smith aboard and paid his steerage passage to San Pedro. On the trip it was noticed that Smith acted in a strange manner. He left the steamer upon its arrival at San Pedro.

MAYOR BUCKLEY RESIGNED.

MAYOR BUCKLEY RESIGNED.

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees Thursday evening President J. W. Buckley, one of the hold-over members, presented his resignation as president and member of the board and requested that it be accepted at once. He was not present at the meeting. In giving his reasons for such request he said that two years ago, the time at which he took the office, the city was nearly $3000 in debt. This had been wiped out and at the same time numerous costly improvements had been made and there had been many expensive purchases. He did not claim the entire credit for this, for he had received cordial support from a majority of the board. He realized that not men but principles were voted for at the recent election, and his own views as to matters of public policy were, he believed, not in accord with those of the newly-elected Trustees. He therefore believed he could in no way aid in executing the will of the people as expressed at the election and thought it better that the members of the new Trustee J. T. Martin, one of the outgoing members, moved to accept the resignation, but it was suggested by citizens present that action on the matter be deferred, and so the resignation was tabled.

Mr. Buckley, who is superintendent of the San Pedro Lumber Company, has today received numerous requests to reconsider his action and withdraw the resignation.

HEAVY SEAS AT NEWPORT.
The four-masted schooner Campbell,
Capt. Smith, and the three-masted schooner Mavina, Capt. Smith, had a rough time as a result of the gale blowing from the northwest last Friday. They were at the wharf at Newport discharging lumber, when the waves got so heavy that they had to slip their moorings and stand off to sea. The Campbell broke her spanker boom by fouling with the wharf and sustained damage by chafing. The other schooner was also badly chafed.
It was about three days later before the two vessels could get back to Newport again.

At Redondo J. M. Bracewell and Secretary Ainsworth of the Redondo Railway Company expressed such feeling and it was induced by the Board of Trustees there and telegraphed to Senator White. City Attorney Stiegletz visited several towns, from which expressions favorable to San Pedro were obtained and, by prominent officials and citizens of those places, respectively, telegraphed to Washington. The City Trustees at Anaheim unanimously adopted such resolutions. Among the other towns in which citizens responded to requests to send telegrams were Azusa, Glendora and Orange. At Riverside opposition petetions were in circulation. A mass meeting was held at Downey Thursday evening at which resolutions supporting San Pedro were unanimously adopted.

ONTARIO.

ONTARIO, April 17.—(Regular Correspondence.) The Republicans of Ontario precinct held a caucus last evening for the purpose of placing in nomination ten delegates to the county convention, it was a spirited and interesting session. Interest centered in a debate over a resolution, offered by Maj. H. E. Phelps, declaring for sound money as opposed to free silver. This resolution was opposed very forcibly by H. N. Ross. The resolution was finally voted down. A resolution declaring for McKinley met with a more favorable reception, and was passed amid the greatest enthusiasm. The following delegates received a majority of the votes cast, and will stand as the nominees at tomorrow's caucus: J. T. Lindley, I. S. Miller, A. F. Clarke, B. C. Shepherd, L. H. Pierson, W. W. Smith O. S. Ensign, D. T. Jones, O. E. Hardy, E. B. Powell. The delegates will go to the convention uninstructed.

It was a beautiful conception, and was a credit to the management and Miss Pease, who drilled the participants. "Souss's Amateur Band" furnished music for the event. The festival will conclude this evening.

When they alighted they were escorted to carriages and taken for a two-hours' drive over the city, including Cafion Crest Park. Finally they were taken to Colton avenue, where the long double row of pepper trees had been gorgeously decorated with flowers, oranges and incandescent lights. Entering the narrow driveway beneath the graceful trees through a triumphal arch of roses, they were driven to the eastern end of the park-like drive, when the carriages proceeded to Casa Loma. A delightful and novel orange lunch was there spread for them in the spacious diningroom, and an informal reception was tendered the city's guests. From the hotel the guests repaired to their special cars, and early in the morning they will leave for Riverside.

INGLEWOOD.

INGLEWOOD, April 17.—(Regular Correspondence.) A flow of about 100 miners' inches of water has been developed from fifteen wells which have been bored not far from Centinela Station on the Centinela ranch. The average, depth of the wells is about sixty feet. Water is found in most of them not far from the surface, but it is more abundant further down. The water does not flow above the surface of the ground where the wells are, but there is lower ground onto which if can be run by tunneling. The borings of the wells are about seven inches in diameter. An artificial dam is to be built so as to confine water near the railroad between Inglewood and Centinela stations. The artificial lake will be about 300 feet wide at the top and will be about one-half mile in length. The wells have been boring for about three months. Not far from 1000 acres can be irrigated with the water developed. INGLEWOOD.

BANTA MONICA, April 17.—(Regular Correspondence.) The four-months-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Alvord died suddenly this afternoon at their home on Second street, near Nevada avenue. In the early afternoon the baby seemed well, and as usual was put in his crib to sleep. When the mother returned later, the baby was already dead from some cause unknown. He was not a sickly baby, but apparently a healthy child. The parents are English people who have not been living in Santa Monica for any great length of time. The Coroner was notified, and an inquest will be held on Saturday.

SAN DIEGO, April 17.—(Regular Correspondence.) Justice Solon Bryan committed Dr. J. B. Northrup to jail on Thursday for contempt of court because Northrup refused to turn over his monthly salary of $100 as City Physician, to the constable, to satisfy a judgment secured against him by W. E. Simpson. The attorneys of the doctor secured a writ of habeas corpus, and by order of the Superior Court the doctor was not incarcerated in a public cell. On Monday Northrup will have a hearing.

Thursday. Siefert was charged with seiling figure after midnight. Hayes held that Siefert could not be punished for an act he did not commit, or order an employe to commit. It appears from this that no one is held responsible for the open violation of the law in one of the most prominent liquor shops in the city. The law is served out in all sorts of styles down this way.

POMONA.

POMONA, April 17.—(Regular Correspondence.) The olive nurserymen in Pomona are gradually closing up the busiest season they have ever had. Several of the largest orders for treesthose amounting to 30,000 or 40,000 trees—are now being filled, and shipments are going forth by the dozen every day. The largest olive planting in the State this year is that near Fullerton, in Orange county, where Andrew McNaily of Pasadena, and another gentleman are planting some 500 acres of the fruit. Several shipments of 1000 clive trees each have recently been made to San Diego, and growers in the locality of Chula Vista and National City are going into olive culture extensively. While this has been a big season for olive-planting and orders, it is not likely that it is very profitable, for such sharp competition exists among olive nurserymen that the prices for all varieties of olive trees have been whittled down to the bare expenses of growing them.

By 8:30 the rooms were filling rapidly, and a large and brilliant crowd of dancers had assembled before the dance of roses was announced. At a signal from Prof. Henry J. Kramer, the orchestra crashed into a brilliant prelude, and, like a flock of whitewinged birds, a bevy of young girls appeared at an entrance beside the stage. Three ran forward to the middle of the room, and stood there poised as it for flight. Another crash of music, another swift rush, and twelve pretty maids stood in regular ranks, all gowned in fluffy white tulle, and each carrying a long garland of rdses. Then two airy pink sprites danced forth, two beautiful children of 12 or 13. These were the solo dancers, and right well did they do their parts. Last of all came the fairy of the ferns, the premier danseuse, a graceful young girl of 15, who executed a pass seul that drew a storm of applause from the spectators.

In and out went the dancers, in beautiful and intricate figures, the rosy garlands waving and the light feet keeping time to the dreamy measures of a waltz. The three elves in pink were everywhere, dancing as though their little feet were winged, and burst after burst of applause shook the tent, culminating with the final crash of chords and the swift flight of the pretty troop of dancers.

definite information is beginning to be received from the northern part of the State in regard to the ex-tent of the damage to deciduous fruit by the frosts of last winter. In the Sacramento Valley it is said that there will be the largest crop of pears ever een in that locality, but the crop of apricots will be light, as also will the cherry and plum crop in that locality. From Butte county it is reported that the apricot crop will be almost a total failure. Peaches will be light and pears The outlook for prunes appears to be good throughout the northern part of the State. The frost of a few days ago has done still further committee that was appointed by the Sacramento Fruit-growers' Convention in November last to consider the eastern market question took action a few days ago. The committee has en informed that there was danger of three separate auction rooms selling California fruits at the same hour in. Chicago the coming season. This would divide the eastern buyers into three small groups, and the committee was unanimously of the opinion that consolidated auction salesrooms should be established at the various eastern markets in which all auctioneers and buyers should be free to transact Such an arrangement as would bring all of the buyers under one roof, and, competition thus increased, better prices for fruit would be assured. With this idea in view a resolution providing for the establishing of consolidated auction salesrooms in the eastern markets was adopted.

New York dealers are beginning to complain that their city is no longer so portant a distributing center for California fruits as it was previously. The New York Journal of Commerce re-cently had the following on this subject:

"A few years ago New York was the distributing center in the East for California dried fruits, nearly all of the business in the territory east of Buffalo and Pittsburgh and north of Baltimore was conducted through the jobbers of this city. At present, however, according to the statements of prominent members of the trade, there is practically none of this outside trade left to the city, as in recent years the practice. the city, as in recent years the practice has increased among the shippers in California of sending their goods to local points. As a result trade here has suffered severals? suffered severely.

The fruit that has been most affected change is raisins. It is expected that the combination which has been made among the raisin men of the San Joaquin Valley will result in regulating the marketing of the crop and stop many consignments that have been made so far.

Commenting upon the great decline that has taken place in the price of California fruits during the past few years, the Journal of Commerce says:

"Prices have declined, and while the increase in the supply of dried fruits-is partly responsible for this, the system of indiscriminate consignments has also had the same tendency. High-grade loose muscatelles sold five years ago for 10 cents a pound to the jobbing trade, while today they are selling at 4 cents. Four sizes of prunes have declined from 12½ cents in 1889 to 5½ cents."

The local markets have been steady during the past week, with few important changes in prices. Attention is now being directed to the coming fruit crop, which, from all appearances, will be a heavy one of almost all varieties Southern California.

It is about time that the deciduous fruit-growers of this section should come together and imitate the orange by forming a strong organization for the purpose of handling their fruit and securing a good market.

Tenant Farming in Indiana. The editor of the Grange Visitor, a Michigan paper, who has been making a tour through the States of Ohio. In diana and Wisconsin, writes as follows to his paper regarding a condition of affairs which he found prevailing in Indiana:

"I discovered that there is a large amount of tenant farming in Central Indiana, and it seems to be on the increase. For the first time in my life at a farmers' gathering I heard the words 'landlord' and 'tenant,' commonly used. These words sounded ominous to me, but they did not seem to trouble the minds of those who used them. This matter of the increase of tenant-farming is a serious problem. Perhaps the tide cannot be stemmed, but I trust the day never will come when our country becomes a land of landlords and tenants. The actual possession and ownership of a home is the great sateguard."

Seeds for Distribution.

The Times will shortly have for distribution from the Experiment Station of the University of California samples of cotton seed, field peas, and a new variety of sugar beet, from France. Notice will be given in the next issue in regard to the conditions under which samples of this seed will be supplied.

As recently mentioned in the commer ern trade paper, the Philadelphia Grocery World, has been investigating the stion whether the demand for Calina pickled olives in the East is so at as has been stated. According great as has been stated. According to the World it finds that this is not the se. This being a most important estion to Southern California hortirists, the following extract from World, which has already been the World, which has already been utilished in The Times, is repeated:

"For several weeks the California ewepapers have been publishing contactulatory paragraphs concerning the lightest fremendous increase in the dehand for the California pickled olives of that State. One journal stated that his demand had sprung up this season in the Eastern States for California olives, and practically the whole woduct of the State is already sold orders for California olives have come from many old and conservative groery-houses in leading eastern cities, whose proprietors say that now the salifornians have mastered the art of teckling the fruit, the native product will drive the foreign olives out of testern markets.

investigated this statement, partly because it is interested in the development of domestic products, and partly as a matter of trade information. It regrets that it finds the statement absolutely without foundation. The California pickled olive has never stood a shadow of a chance in competition with the Spanish fruit, and never will, for it is of an entirely different variety, and one which the public don't want. There is at present not an iota more of promise that the California pickled olives can even secure a foothold in the East, or anywhere else, than there has ever been, to say nothing about their driving the Spanish fruit from the market.

"It was stated by two well-known."

their driving the Spanish fruit from the market.

"It was stated by two well-known Philadelphia packers of olives that not a single dealer in either Philadelphia or New York sold the California pickled olives, because they were inferior to the Spanish, and the public didn't want them. About five or six months ago a lot of these goods, comprising 300 gallons, were packed for a local dealer by a Philadelphia packer, the idea being to make an experiment with them, and see how they would be received. They fell flat and the experimenter will not make the venture again. The California olive is of a different branch from the Spanish, and its chief use is to make oil. Pickled, its keeping qualities are not lasting, and it deteriorates with age. California olive oil is thought by some to be superior to the Spanish, but all agree upon the olive pickled.
"It is understood that the California olive-packers intend to make a determined effort at an early day to introduct their goods in all markets, especially those of the East, but all opinions agree that they must inevitably met with failure."

It is astonishing that such ignorance as this on an important subject in the cast of the cast o

It is astonishing that such ignorance as this on an important subject should be exhibited by a paper which ranks high among the commercial publica-tions of the East. The writer appears to be altogether ignorant of the truth that the difference between imported olives and California olives consists simply in the fact that the former are picked and pickled while green, whereas the latter are allowed to ripen. It is the same difference that exists between a green plum and a ripe plum The olives raised in California are of the best Spanish, Italian and French varieties, including the same varieties that are imported from Europe. The imported fruit being green, it is only utilized as a side dish at a meal, for the purpose of cleansing the palate be courses, or before partaking of Certainly, few people would think of consuming imported olives, with their soapy flavor, as a food. On the other hand, the California olives. which have been allowed to ripen, are a food of the highest medicinal value, and of delicious flavor. The taste for them is one that grows very rapidly. Here in California even the children cry for them, so that it is difficult for producers to keep up with the demand It is the same in the East wherever the California olive has been given a fair chance, so far as we can learn. Tourists who come to this section for the first time almost invariably become fond of the California olives and inquire where they can obtain them in the East. The Philadelphia paper is either woe fully ignorant of the subject on which it treats, or else the article referred to has been written in the interest of eastern olive importers. In any case it will be found impossible to stop the onward march of the California olive, which has come to stay, both in the shape of oil and of pickles. As The Times has frequently stated, it is likely to be many years before our growers will be able to supply the demand for olives in the pickled state. After that will come a wide and rapidly-increasing market for oil, so that there is little fear of overdoing the planting of this

Since writing the above, the following ertinent remarks on this subject from the California Fruit Grower have come to our notice:

"We are quite sure the write of the following, copied from the Grocery World of Philadelphia, never tasted the California ripe pickled olive. If so the could hardly say they do not equal the Spanish fruit:

the Spanish fruit:

"The California pickled olive has never stood a shadow of a chance in competition with the Spanish fruit, and never will, for it is of an entirely different variety, and one which the public does not want. There is at present not an iota more of promise that the California pickled olives can ever secure a foothold in the East, or anywhere else, than there has ever been, to say nothing about their driving the Spanish fruit from the market."

"It is evident that the writer quoted knows very little about the subject, for he speaks of the California olive being 'an entirely different variety' from the Spanish fruit.

'an entirely different variety' from the Spanish fruit.

"The truth is, of course, that the olives of California are of the same varieties as those of Spain, but are allowed to ripen before pickling, instead of being pickled in a green state. And there is as much difference between a ripe olive pickle put up in California and the green ones brought from Spain, as between a ripe peach or plum and a green one. And the difference is all in favor of the ripe olive pickle from California. Whenever the people of the East shall become accustomed to the rich, nutty olive as pickled after maturing in California, it will be hard to work off the green stuff from Spain upon them, and even the half-grown plums that are pickled by the ton and sold to Philadelphiha editors as Queen olives from Spain, will find a very poor market. It was not very long ago that eastern editors made the same predictions about California raisins, prunes and oranges. But as prophets they are not a roaring success; hence we may soon expect to see the better informed among them sending to California for a supply of our peerless, ripe olive pickles for their own tables."

Future of Fruit Growing.

In his annual report of shipments of California fruits out of the State, issued last month, Gen. N. P. Chipma, while recognizing the discouragement that have attended the fruit business during the past year or two, takes quite a hopeful view. He thinks it would have been strange if fruit had remained at the price of five years ago after the general business depression spread over the country. In Gen. Chipspread over the country. In Gen, Chip-man's opinion, the simple and cogent fact that explains satisfactorily the g off of experts in all forms of liture is that the people of all classes were forced, and still are forced, to the most unbending economy in living. Not only were prices greatly reduced, but consumption fell off. However cheap food product became, there was a limit to their purchase. When some of our dried California peaches can be bought by the carload for 2½ cents a pound, and no buyers; when some of our French prunes sell for 2 cents a pound in the face of the fact that importations have ceased, we must conclude that a condition exists wholly abnormal, and that should not form the basis upon which to forecast the future of the fruit industry.

All we need to bring about a complete restoration of prosperity in this business, as in others, is that the ordinary good times with which our country is usually blessed shall return; and no intelligent man can doubt that this will happen.

He concludes his report with the following encouraging words. That I as no intelligent man can doubt that this will happen.

He concludes his report with the following encouraging words: "But I assert that the fruit-growers on small tracts who have with their families done their own work, and have diversified their products, are in a much better condition than any other class of farmers in the State.

"Good, choice, well-prepared fruit has sold at a profit to the grower even during the hard times.

"A most important change has come about under the financial stress of the past three years. Lands have fallen in value here, and the price of nursery fruit trees has greatly diminished. Large land holdings are melting away, and homes can be purchased where it was not possible before, and at very reasonable prices.

"The highly wrought pictures of a few years ago, commending to the home-seeker the purchase of fruit land at $100 to $500 an acre, costing him $75 to $100 more per acre to build his orchard, and promising him a net annual profit of $200 to $500 per acre when his trees should come into bearing, have been ruthlessly shattered. The invitation to the capitalist to invest in large orchard syndicates, promising dividends equal to a paying gold mine, has met a rude recoil. It was never inorchard syndicates, promising divi-dends equal to a paying gold mine, has met a rude recoil. It was never in-tended by the Almighty that either the earth or the immediate fruits of the earth should be made the subject of purely speculative investment. Large syndicate farming in any form has never succeeded, and never should. Cornering the food products of the Cornering the food products of the earth has never been successful, and never should be.

"It is now possible for the home-seeker to purchase almost anywhere in California good land at prices not much greater than the land he now owns in the Middle and Western States can be sold for. He can buy his nursery trees nearly as cheap as they are sold elsewhere, and at about one-quarter the price of a few years ago. If he can obtain water with which to irrigate his land, he can maintain himself while his orchard is growing. All the necessary equipment of his new home—his farm implements, his building material, his live stock, his necessary articles of consumption—he can now buy in California nearly as cheaply as in any Western State.

"All the charms of our matchless climate remain the same yesterday, today and forever. There was never a time, and I doubt if there ever will be a time, more favorable than the present for the tiller of the soil in the frozen regions, to invest and make all the control of the soil in the frozen regions, to invest and make all the profitable fruit-growing in California have not by any means been reached, nor do I think they are likely to be. The reasons for this belief I have many times stated in these reports and elsewhere, and I need not repeat them. The reasons are as sound today as they were five years or three years ago. They rest upon unchangeable laws of nature; upon conditions surrounding us and surrounding the regions where our markets are that cannot change. Callfornia in my judgment, must remain the orchard of America. Periods of depression may diminish profits; accidental good fruit crops in the Eastern States may occasionally shorten our market and lessen prices, but, as a permanent and generally profits accidental good fruit crops in the Eastern States may occasionally shorten our market and lessen prices, but, as a permanent and generally profits, accidental good fruit crops in the Eastern States may occasionally shorten our market and lessen prices, but, as a permanent and generally profits, accidental good fruit crops in the Eastern States may occasionally shorten our market and lessen prices, but, as a permanent and generally profits accidental good fruit crops in the Eastern States may occasionally shorten our market and lessen prices, but, as a permanent and generally profits accident to the profits accident to t

Farmers Building Railroads

(American Cultivator:) The old rule that the best way to make sure that a thing is done is to do it yourself, has a new exemplification. A few years ago the farmers of a rural community in New Jersey who had no railroad facilities had tried for many years to induce a railroad company to build a short branch to their town. But the company thought that it was sure of their business any way, as they had no other outlet and must carry their products by wagon to the nearest railroad station. After trying in vain to induce capitalists to come on and help them, the farmers put their own shoulders to the wheel. In the first place, as they were to own the road they each gave the right-of-way through his land or sold it at about the price it was worth for farming, taking pay in stock of the road. Then each farmer agreed to give so much work or timber for ties, taking pay for these in stock. The rails and engines had to be bought, but as the road by this time had become a certainty, plenty of money was forthcoming. Capitalists advised the issue of bonds, but the farmers knew better than that. In the end the road was put in successful operation with no outlay except what the farmers had contributed. The road doubled the value of their farms, and, having been constructed at low cost, has paid good dividends.

This experience has lately been duplicated in Northern Minnesota. A district in a rich farming country, but filled with farmers who had no money, was so far away from railroads that farmers could get next to nothing for their wheat. A farmer named Hines, who owned nothing but a quarter-section of morigaged land and a spavined team of horses, set the ball a-roiling. He concluded that the farmers must build a road of their own to protect them from being robbed by the railroads which they were forced to patronize. So he got all the farmers along the line to subscribe the right-of-way, and an agreement to take a certain amount of stock, which they could pay for by day's works at grading the track or by furnishing ties. Far holders pay heavily to furnish money for right-of-way and grading. This last work is usually done by contractors, who make large profits. By the time the bonds are issued the stock has been sunk in building the road, and after a few years of poor business. some of the bondholders get control of the directory and wreck the road, taking it usually at about the figures they have themselves furnished. Sometimes, as in the case of the West Shore Railroad, which was wrecked eight or nine years ago, there are two sets of bondholders, one of which is sacrificed to enrich the other. In that case both of the bonds were first-mortgage bonds and apparently an equally-safe risk. But one set of bonds was placed on the roadbed except the terminals, and the other on the terminals. The last bonds were taken, by the men who sold out the road and bought it in, at the same time getting full value for what they had put in, and leasing the road for 500 years to the New York, which prohibited ownership of two parallel lines by one corporation, was evaded.

Many farmers along the line of the West Shore Railroad took stock for the cost of right-of-way through their farms. These received nothing, as there was not enough money to pay more than 50 cents on the dollar of the bonds issued on the main line. Those who tried to be even with the managers of the road, and who insisted on selling their right-of-way for bonds, ida little better. They received 50 cents on a dollar in bonds, paying 4 per cent. a year, and guaranteed by the New York Central is that in defiance of the law of the State it practically controls the only possible parallel line along its entire length. Both on the Hudson and in the narrow pass of the Mohawk Valley the West Shore managers were obliged to secure the consent of the State to build on lands that had been secured for the Erie Canal, and which will be needed for the canal should it ever be deemed necessary to enlarge it to such size as will admit the passage of large ships from Lake Erie to the Hudson.

It is not

or large ships from Lake Erie to the Hudson.

It is not strange with such examples of railroad mismanagement before them that farmers in various sections of the country look with doubt on the policy of building railroads through their lands, unless under conditions which will enable them to exercise some control over their management. Such control over their management, Such control over their management of the States where such commissions exist they are under railroad control, and are no protection whatever to stockholders or to the people.

An Oregon dairymen is alleged to find that white artichokes make the best feed for milch cows. The North west Pacific Farmer mentions a case where the cream and butter increased 40 per cent. when cows were fed largely on artichokes, instead of carrots and mangel wurzels.

Ensilage for Dairy Cows.

Ensilage for Dairy Cows.

(American Cultivator:) The New York Agricultural Experiment Station has recently issued a bulletin on the value of corn ensilage for feeding milch cows from which we extract the following: The average results secured in a large number of feeding trials reported in this bulletin show that corn ensilage is a decidedly valuable food for milk-production. In general there was found an increase in milk flow accompanying the use of corn ensilage in the ration, and at the same time an increase of the amount of fat, the percentage of fat in the milk not diminishing. Milk was generally produced at lower cost, and the cost of fat produced. Was lower while corn ensilage was fed. Tabulated data show the amount of each food used in the different rations, the chemical composition of the rations, the amount of the different constituents digestible, and also the amount and composition of milk produced. Smaller tables show the composition of each food. Attention is called to the necessity of the farmer giving more than superficial attention to records of feeding trials, for local conditions are so varying that all generalizations must be modified considerably to the applied with individual profit. It is important to know what standard rations may be calculated to bring out the greatest average profit. average profit

SWINDLED A POOR WOMAN. A Pretended Employment Agent

One of the swindlers attracted to the city by the flesta is operating on poor and inexperienced persons in a heartless way. A case has been reported at the Police Station which shows up one of these people in an unenviable light. A Salvation Army captain received a call from a respectably-dressed man, who introduced himself as an agent of the firm of E. W. Reid & Co., proprietors of an employment agency. He asked the officer if any of his fellowmembers of the army were looking for work. The captain answered that he knew of one young woman who was much in need of employment. He gave her name and address to the alleged employment agent.

much in need of employment. He gave her name and address to the alleged employment agent.

That same day the young woman received a call from Garner. He told her he had heard she wished to find work. He could tell her of an excellent place, with easy work and high wages, a nice, respectable situation. The fee would be it. The young woman asked how soon she could get the place. The man replied that it would not be vacant for several days, but that she could pay the fee at once and the place should be hers within the week.

The woman handed over a dollar and asked for a receipt. Garner told her that his right hand was so lame from the affects of a bicycle accident that he could not write with it at all. So she made out the receipt and Garner signed it with his left hand.

That was the last seen of the scoundrel. Thursday the young woman called at Reid's employment agency and asked if the promised place were not vet ready. Then it transpired that Mr. Reid had never before heard of Garner, that the name and address the fellow had given were fictitious, and that the young woman had been cleverly swindled out of a dollar.

The case was reported to the police. The swindler is described as a man of medium height and build, light complexion, blue eyes, light brown hair, and smooth, round, full face. When last seen he was dressed in a soft, black hat, with a crease in the top, a black diagonal square-cut coat and vest, and black trousers with narrow stripes of white thread. He wore a white shirt and white collar.

An aged woman named Mrs. Barnman yesterday had a fainting spell in the Arcade Depot. She was taken to the Receiving Hospital and, after being worked over for an hour, she was at last herself again. She had come up to town to visit her grandson, who lives near University. Fainted in the Depot.
